Tiemann Triumphs

GOP Victory Near Complete

. . . Treasurer Race Close

Norbert T. "Nobby" Tiemann, a political unknown just 10 months ago, Tuesday night scored the first Republican gubernatorial triumph in a decade.

Tiemann, 42, a Wausa banker, still riding the crest of a smashing personal primary election victory last May, grabbed a mounting lead over Democratic Lt. Gov. Phillip Sorensen in the battle for Nebraska's first four-year gubernatorial term.

Sorensen, 33, a Lincoln attorney who has served as lieutenant governor since 1965, fell behind at the outset of ballot tabulation Tuesday evening.

Shortly before midnight, Sorensen wired Tiemann his congratulations and pledged his cooperation "in every way possible."

Wired Sorensen: "Voters have made their choice, and I wish you every success in the four important years to come."

32nd Governor

Victory for Tiemann marks him as Nebraska's 32nd governor, leader of the GOP state party organization—and the hottest thing going in Nebraska politics.

Contacted in Omaha by telephone, Tiemann said he will return to Wausa with his family Wednesday for a brief vacation.

The governor-elect will come to Lincoln for a news conference on Friday and he plans to open an office in the Capital City "as soon as arrangements can be made."

A meeting with Gov. Frank Morrison on arrangements for transition is "in the offing," Tiemann said. No decisions have been made on appointments, he noted.

Tiemann soared from political anonymity last spring on the strength of a saturation advertising campaign buttressed by an army of young volunteer workers and a sustained personal campaign blitz.

The momentum of his primary victory over former Gov. Val Peterson and three other opponents carried through the general election campaign, permitting Tiemann in the final weeks to concentrate on Democratic strongholds in South Omaha and the Near North Side.

Changes Promised

Tiemann has promised to push for a host of substantial legislative changes in public policy, including a combination sales-income tax, state aid to education, a constitutional convention and a constitutional amendment to permit revenue bond financng of future highway construction.

The tall, handsome (6-3, 205) governor-elect has also urged upon the state a program of "educational excellence" coupled with development of a research center to attract and sustain industry.

Sorensen, son of a former Republican state attorney general and brother of President Kennedy's chief aide and advisor, called early for many of the same programs in a campaign in which the issues were blunted by general—if not specific—agreement between the candidates.

TIEMANN . . . moves to governor's mansion.

Republican candidates for five other statewide offices led in mounting returns, with a tight race developing for Democratic State Treasurer Fred Sorensen's post.

Democrat James Munnelly of Omaha was his party's only sure winner in the Second District race for the State Railway Commission. He held a commanding lead over Republican Harry Taylor.

Everroad Leads

Omaha businessman John Everroad, 53, who pledged to serve as state "sales manager," bested State Sen. Ross Rasmussen, 49, Hooper turf grass farmer, for lieutenant governor.

Secretary of State Frank Marsh, 42, won an eighth consecutive term in his contest with Democrat George Meister, 34, Columbus insurance and real estate salesman and businessman.

State Auditor Ray Johnson, 73, captured his 15th consecutive term in a victory over Democrat Arthur Case, 60, a Lincoln hotel manager and accountant.

State Railway Commissioner Wayne Swanson, 51, led State Treasurer Fred Sorensen, 67, former Omaha businessman, in the only contest featuring a Democratic incumbent.

Attorney General Clarence Meyer, 56, swept to a fourth term in his struggle with Democrat David Thomas, 42, a Lincoln attorney and president of a tabulation center.

Lead Widens Over Governor

. . . 3rd Term For Incumbent

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Republican Sen. Carl T. Curtis, who asked Nebraska voters to make the Great Society the burning issue in his contest with Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison, won a third term in the Senate early Wednesday.

For Curtis, 61, a Minden attorney, victory came with surprising ease.

The veteran lawmaker, a solid Republican conservative, grabbed an early lead over the governor and watched it soar as the vote tabulation mounted.

Contacted by telephone early Wednesday, Curtis said he was "very, very grateful to all who made it possible."

President Johnson's Great Society was "the big factor, the primary issue," he said.

For Morrison, also 61, a Lincoln attorney who has served as governor since 1961, defeat may have marked the end of a political career which stamped him as the most formidable Democratic vote-gatherer in state history.

The governor's struggle with Curtis also matched him against political tradition. No Democrat has won a Senate race in the state since 1934; only two have ever been elected in Nebraska.

No governor has been directly elected to the Senate. Six, including Morrison, have tried without success since 1940 alone.

Curtis, anticipating a hard struggle, campaigned on weekends in 1965 and 1966 and returned to the state to campaign full-time last Sept. 22.

"The great issue," he told Nebraska voters, "is whether you shall vote to further strengthen the Great Society, with all its dangerous trends, or vote for responsible Republicanism."

In the fading weeks of the campaign, the senator hammered hardest at inflationary trends which beset the economy, arguing that they are the product of Great Society spending policies.

'Positive Voice'

Morrison offered voters "a positive voice" to serve the state within the majority party in the Senate.

Curtis, a 28-year congressional veteran, notched his 22nd triumph in a row in contests for national office in Nebraska. He served eight terms in the House of Representatives prior to his election to the Senate in 1954.

In a statement issued at 11:30 p.m., Morrison thanked all Nebraskans "for the privilege of having served as your governor in a spirit of partnership."

Morrison said "it is up to the younger generation to pick up the torch and build the Democratic Party in Nebraska. I give them the charge to carry on where we left off."

This, he said, is "only one inning in the ball game."

The governor said he would contact Senator Curtis Wednesday morning, and he stands ready to meet "as soon as possible" with Governor-elect Norbert Tiemann "to go over the problems that confront the state."

Callan Holds Narrow Lead

Democratic Rep. Clair Callan early Wednesday clung to a precarious lead in his bid to become the first member of his party in 30 years to win a second term in the House of Representatives.

Callan led Republican challenger Robert Denney in a tight contest for the First District seat in the House.

If Denney should overcome the Democrat in counting throughout the morning, Republicans would have scored a clean sweep of statewide and national contests in Nebraska.

Meanwhile, Republican Reps. Glenn Cunningham and Dave Martin easily won re-election in the Second and Third Districts.

Callan, 46, an Odell farmer, stockman and businessman, won his first term in 1964, largely on the strength of a big plurality in Lincoln.

'Two-Party System'

Denney, 50, a Fairbury attorney and former (1961-64) Republican state chairman, told voters the chief issue was preservation of the two-party system.

CALLAN . . . holds small lead.

Cunningham

Martin

Martin, 59, a Kearney lumber man who served as GOP state chairman from 1949 to 1954, captured a fourth term in a drab struggle with Democrat John Homan, 67, a Cedar Rapids farmer.

Actor Reagan Is Elected Governor Of California

Washington (AP) —Actor-politician Ronald Reagan was elected governor of Califonia Tuesday night. Gov. George Romney rode a Michigan landslide to re-election, and Charles H. Percy became a senator-elect in a trio of triumphs that opened new doors to a struggle for the next Republican presidential nomination.

Reagan's triumph over Democratic Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown gave conservative Republicans an heir to their mantle. Brown conceded to Reagan.

Reagan showed expected strength in Southern California, where more than half of the state's 8.3 million eligible voters were concentrated. He also made inroads in the north Brown's territory, which the governor had counted on to offset Reagan's southern showing.

Romney's massive victory over Democrat Zolton Ferency was a boon to the liberal wing of the GOP.

Percy Potential

And the 47-year-old Percy's Illinois ouster of white-haired Sen. Paul H. Douglas, 74, a three-term Democrat, gave the liberals another potential entry at the next GOP national convention.

But President Johnson faced a more immediate challenge in the election outcome: trouble on Capitol Hill.

For in Congress, Republicans fashioned a comeback of sorts from the party collapse left by Johnson's trouncing of Barry Goldwater two years ago. And it could put the brakes on Johnson's "Great Society" in the 90th Congress.

The Democrats, thanks to holdovers, retained Senate control, but their big House margin was being nibbled away by the GOP.

In Johnson's own Texas, Sen. John G. Tower, a conservative Republican, was re-elected to the seat the President once held. Tower beat Waggonner Carr, an equally conservative Democrat, in a tight, tough race.

Brooke Wins

In Massachusetts, Negro Republican Edward W. Brooke became the first of his race to win election to the Senate by popular vote. He bested ex-Gov. Endicott Peabody, a Yankee Democrat, in the process.

Brooke's victory will send a Negro to the Senate for the first time in 85 years.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who has carried the presidential hopes of liberal Republicans in the past, won re-election to a third term. Rockefeller has said he is through with presidential politics.

But resistance to the pace of Negro rights advances cut both ways.

Lurleen Wins

Lurleen Wallace, 40-year-old blonde and mother of four, kept Alabama in her husband's name. George C. Wallace isn't eligible to succeed himself, so his wife ran—and won big. Wallace had made it clear that he will run the state—and maybe make a third party bid for the presidency in 1968.

In another family affair, Howard H. Baker became the first Republican ever elected to the Senate in Tennessee. By beating Gov. Frank Clement, Baker goes to the Senate to join his father-in-law, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the GOP leader.

Republicans pulled a mild surprise in Oklahoma by holding on to the governorship. Dewey F. Bartlett, a Tulsa oilman, bested Preston J. Moore to keep for the GOP the job now held by Henry Bellmon.

GOP In Florida

Republican Claude R. Kirk Jr., a Jacksonville businessman, captured the Florida governorship for the GOP for the first time since Reconstruction, beating Miami Mayor Robert King High.

Income Tax Losing Early; Property Tax Issue Trails

Early returns appeared to point to the resounding defeat of the 1965 income tax law, and an initiative proposal to outlaw the property tax for state revenue was trailing.

The anti-income tax forces showed strength from the beginning of the counting on state issues, which ran considerably behind that for top state and national offices.

Also trailing in the early voting was a Legislature-proposed amendment which would keep the state property tax for capital construction and guarantee 20% of a broadened tax base to the schools if the state goes to a broadened tax base.

The income tax bill as passed by the 1965 Legislature on a 26-23 vote, provided for a flat-rate income tax against the net taxable income of individuals and corporations.

Exemptions included $600 for an individual or $1,200 for a couple, an additional $600 for persons over 65 or blind, and an additional $600 for each dependent as defined in the federal income tax code.

The rate of the income tax would have been set by the State Board of Equalization to raise enough revenue to support appropriations approved by the Legislature, in much the same way that the property tax levy is now set. The necessary levy has been estimated at between 2¾ and 3 per cent.

The initiative amendment would, in effect, repeal the Duis Amendment which now bars the state from the property tax field only upon adoption of a general sales or income tax or a combination of the two.

If the proposal is adopted it would force the 1967 Legislature to use either a general sales tax, an income tax, or both, to support state government operations.

School Bus Amendment Is Undecided

The amendment, which would permit public-supported school bus transportation for private and parochial elementary and secondary school children, held a slim "yes" vote in the early balloting.

If adopted, the amendment would write into the constitution language stating "that transportation services may be provided for childden attending any elementary or secondary school meeting the minimum standards of the compulsory attendance laws of the state of Nebraska."

School districts already are permitted to provide bus transportation for public school children.

Ed Schwartzkopf Leads Swanson For Regents Post

Ed Schwartzkopf, who upset state Sen. Hal Bauer to win nomination, was leading incumbent Clarence Swanson in early voting returns for the First District University of Nebraska Regent's post.

Swanson, 68, has held the board position since 1954. Schwartzkopf, 47, is coordinator of industrial arts and education for the Lincoln Public Schools.

German Chief Agrees To Quit

. . . Erhard Backs 4 Candidates

Bonn, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard agreed Tuesday night after a sharp parliamentary setback to let his Christian Democratic Party choose a possible successor and said he would support any one of four men for his job.

The full membership of the party will meet Wednesday to select the candidate whom President Heinrich Luebcke will nominate to parliament to try to end the crisis precipitated by the breakdown of Erhard's ruling coalition late this month.

Erhard, 69 and head of the West German government for the past three years, agreed to support any one of these four men as his successor:

—Rainer Barzel, 42, Christian Democratic leader in the Bundestag.

—Gerhard Schroeder, 56, West German foreign minis-

Schroeder is regarded as Erhard's personal choice as successor.

Erhard also agreed to head a three-member commission to negotiate with the other two major parties in the Bundestag to try to form a majority government.

Recovery Boss

The chancellor's decision was announced by a spokesman a few hours after a majority in the Bundestag urged Erhard — the man considered responsible for West Germany's economic recovery miracle — to ask for a formal vote of confidence.

He refused, saying, "I decline to take part in a show trial."

But he repeated that he would not stand in the way of anyone who could create a majority in the Bundestag.

The current government crisis erupted Oct. 27 when the Free Democrats broke with Erhard, and his parliamentary majority vanished.

Balked At Budget

The Free Democrats refused to go along with Erhard's proposed $18.8 billion budget. It calls for increased taxes to meet West Germany's obligation to buy U.S. arms to help offset the cost to the United States of keeping its troops in Germany.

The Free Democrats joined with the Socialists Tuesday in calling for the confidence vote, which Erhard was regarded as certain to lose. The resolution passed, 255-246.

McNamara Given Harvard Apology

Cambridge, Mass. (AP)—Harvard College formally apologized Tuesday to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara for the "discourteous and unruly confrontation" Monday by anti-war demonstrators.

McNamara's path was blocked by some 400 demonstrators as he left the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Institute of Politics. He was jeered and heckled when he tried to answer questions about the Viet Nam war.

Dean John U. Munro of Harvard wrote to McNamara: "Such rudeness and physical confrontation have no place in the university world, and we are appalled that it should happen here at Harvard.

'Much Disturbed'

"We appreciated very much your willingness to take time during your visit to talk with undergraduates, and we are much disturbed by the unpleasant finale in the streets."

McNamara's car was blocked by some 100 students who prostrated themselves in its path as he sought to leave the Kennedy Institute.

The secretary sought to talk with the jeering and heckling crowd, but the demonstrators set up such a din he could not make himself heard.

Unhurt

McNamara was not injured in the demonstration.

A counter-group in the crowd carried placards supporting the administration's policy in Viet Nam.

Dean Munro told newsmen Tuesday no discipline of the students was planned because "I hate to make a matter of disciplinary action any kind of political activity or demonstration."

Refuge In China

Tokyo (AP)—A top Japanese communist, Ryuji Nishizawa, who was purged by his party after starting a magazine last month called "Study of Mao Tse-tung Thought," has taken refuge in Red China with his wife. Police estimate his pro-Peking group here had about 200 members.

Catholics To Cooperate In Common-Bible Work

Vatican City (AP) — In a major Christian unity move, the Vatican announced Tuesday Pope Paul VI has authorized the Roman Catholic Church to work with all other Christians for a common Bible.

An American priest from Boston, the Rev. Walter M. Abbott, was named to direct the project for the church.

Father Abbott, 43, long a leader in the ecumenical (unity) movement, called the common Bible project basic to the effort to bring separated Christians together.

Essential To Unity

"Without a common Bible," he said in a comment on his appointment, "there will be no unity."

The Vatican Ecumenical Council, in what was a victory for progressive bishops of the Catholic Church, had endorsed the concept of a Bible that could be used by all Christianity.

The Pope's action implemented the decision and gave over-all responsibility for the effort to the Vatican Christian unity secretariat. Father Abbott was appointed assistant to the secretariat president, Augustin Cardinal Bea, for the direction of the common Bible project.

The secretariat already has informed the various Catholic bishops' conferences around the world of the papal authorization to undertake common Bible studies.

They have been asked to provide the Holy See with information on the possibilities and difficulties in each area on Bible translation and distribution.

Even before the Vatican announcement, some conferences had begun plans for cooperation with local Bible societies.

The Vatican said these plans "could provide useful models for future directives from the Holy See."

To Bible Society Meet

One of Father Abbott's first jobs will be to represent the Vatican at the Nov. 14-16 meeting of the American Bible Society's advisory council in New York City.

Father Abbott, born in Boston in 1923, has been director of the North American section of Vatican Radio since last April.

From 1959 until then, he was religion editor of America, a weekly review published by Jesuits of the United States and Canada. In that post he campaigned strongly to marshal support for the common Bible concept.

Viet Nam Fighting Strength May Rise To 500,000 In '67

Washington (UPI) — Defense Department officials conceded Tuesday that the number of American fighting men in the Viet Nam war may swell to 500,000 by the end of 1967.

In reply to questions from United Press International, a Pentagon spokesman said that Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara did not rule out this buildup in a weekend statement at President Johnson's Texas ranch.

An announcement by McNamara that draft calls would be reduced in the coming year led to some speculation that manpower demands for the war might tend to level off below the half-million mark.

Responding to a question, the Defense Department replied: "The statement does not necessarily rule out a figure as high as 500,000 for the end of calendar" 1967.

The present troop strength in Viet Nam is 345,000, and another 55,000 Americans are expected to be in the war theater around the first of the year.

McNamara told newsmen after conferring with the President Saturday that the expansion of the fighting forces during this year would total about 200,000 men. He predicted that the increase in 1967 "will be nothing on that order."

This still would leave room for the number to reach 500,000 — a figure used by congressional authorities such as Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee.

Officials Worried

The proposed draft cut worried some Army men on grounds such as a reduction on Selective Service calls results in a drop off of voluntary enlistments.

McNamara said the draft for the December-March period ahead would be about half the 161,000 inductees who were summoned to service in the August-November period.

The Defense Department also was asked to clarify two McNamara statements:

Oct. 14 on returning from Viet Nam — "Nor do I see any reason to believe that deployments of U.S. forces to that country will change significantly in the future."

Nov. 5 at the Texas ranch —"Today a slowdown in our rate of troop deployments to that country is planned."

The Pentagon response was that the Oct. 14 statement was specially aimed at denying reports there would be increases in the rate of troop deployment to Viet Nam.

LBJ Lifts Tax Break

Johnson City, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson signed Tuesday an act designed to help keep inflation down by withdrawing some tax inducements to business spending.

The act suspends tax code provisions which have allowed businesses to subtract from their taxes seven per cent of the cost of newly acquired machinery and other equipment, and which have enabled persons building profit-making apartment houses and office structures to recapture more of their capital faster through speeded-up depreciation.

The major portion of the act, suspending the tax incentives, is retroactive to Oct. 10 and applies through Dec. 31, 1967.

Congress wrote in some exceptions. The investment credit still applies to purchases up to $20,000, a feature benefiting small businessmen and farmers, and to the cost of industrial equipment to control water and air pollution.

Batman-Penguin Poll Case Disposed Of In Pigeon-Hole

Washington (UPI)—The Fair Campaign Practices Committee has pigeon-holed the Batman-Penguin election case.

Television's Caped Crusader and his arch-enemy, the Penguin, were running for mayor of Gotham City and, in a Nov. 3 episode, Batman was urged to blast the blustering bird for his dastardly dealings.

But the elder half of the Dynamic Duo said he had no legal proof of Penguin's chicanery and if he used an unproven charge, "the Fair Campaign Practices Committee would accuse me of using smear tactics."

Not so, said Samuel J. Archibald, FCPC executive director. In a letter to the program's producer, he said the nonpartisan committee's efforts do not include local offices.

"The committee concentrates on presidential, congressional and gubernatorial elections. If Batman decides to seek one of these offices, the committee's facilities will be at his disposal," Archibald said.

Judge Upholds Conviction Of Main Obscenity Defendant

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — U.S. District Judge William C. Hanson has upset the obscenity convictions of eight West Coast defendants in a nudist and girlie magazine case but upheld conviction of the principal defendant, Milton Luros.

The 54-year-old North Hollywood, Calif., publisher will be sentenced Dec. 6 along with four companies - Sun Era Inc., Art Agency Inc., Parliament News Inc. and London Press Inc.

Luros, his wife Beatrice, 48, seven other individuals and the four corporations were convicted by a jury Jan. 14 on 147 counts of using the mails for obscene publications.

Acquitted were Mrs. Luros, general office manager for her husband; Melvin Friedman, 37, of Van Nuys, Calif.; Paul Wisner, 40, of North Hollywood, Calif.; Stanley E. Sohler, 47, of Granada Hills, Calif.; Elmer A. Patters, 46, of San Pedre, Calif.; Harold Straubling, 47, of Sepulveda, Calif.; Sam Merwin Jr., 55, of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Richard M. Ceis, 33, of Portland, Ore.

Hanson, in upsetting the convictions of Mrs. Luros and the seven employes, said evidence presented to the jury was not sufficient to prove they knew contents of the books and magazines or of the individual mailings into Iowa.

Guam Gives Democrats 'Landslide'

Washington (AP) — The Democratic National Committee jubilantly announced Tuesday that Democrats had scored a "landslide" sweep in Guam.

Guam, a U.S. territory on the other side of the International Dateline in the Pafic, doesn't get to elect any U.S. senator or House member. But it does vote for a legislature.

Mrs. Madeleine Bordallo, Democratic national committeewoman on Guam, phoned the national committee at 3 a.m. Wednesday (Guam time) that Democrats had swept all 21 seats in the one-house legislature.

Previously, the opposition, called the Territorial Party, had been in the majority, 13-8.

New Bomber Is Proposed By Air Force

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was presented Tuesday with an Air Force proposal for an advanced manned strategic bomber to succeed the aging B52 and the FB111 planned for the early 1970's, Pentagon officials said.

Details were kept secret for security reasons, but the proposed craft, known as AMSA, reportedly would have approximately five times the nuclear capability and twice the range of the FB111.

A classified memorandum —one of a series in recent months—was forwarded this morning to the Pentagon chief with a description of the plane and its envisioned role in nuclear warfare.

In the past, McNamara has refused to go along with full development and production of the plane. McNamara has said he sees no clear need for a new strategic bomber in view of the nation's huge force of intercontinental ballistic missiles, and he has contended the Air Force has not been specific enough about what role an advanced bomber would play in the U.S. defense.

The Defense Department has spent about $60 million during the last two years on components and subsystems of a new strategic bomber just in case the need should arise for its production.

Liquor Plan Lead Slight

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

City voters favoring liquor by the drink in Lincoln held a slight margin over those opposing the issue after over half the votes were counted Wednesday morning.

The election outcome means in all probability the City Council will have to determine a new liquor policy. It also means that bottle clubs and non-profit clubs will have to apply for a Class C liquor license or close down by May 1, the end of the licensing year.

Only non-profit clubs that elect to stay open two days per week can retain their present license.

May Stay Private

Bottle clubs and non-profit clubs, however, may hold a liquor - by - the - drink license and still keep private memberships if they choose.

Lincoln joins almost 30 towns over the past two years that have voted in liquor by the drink despite stiff opposition from church groups.

Said Mayor Dean Petersen of the vote Tuesday: "People generally recognize that we have had liquor by the drink under what amounts to a subterfuge under the bottle club system, and they are merely legalizing what the Legislature made inevitable."

Walter Haase, executive The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce "Committee of 66" led a successful petition drive last month to put the proposal on the ballot.

'What People Want'

Opposed by a variety of religious and citizen organizations, the issue was supported publicly only by the Progress for Lincoln Committee, a group consisting largely of motel and restaurant interests.

Committee chairman Paul Brusnahan said the vote indicates "what most of the people want."

"We hope this will make Lincoln more attractive to tourists, conventions and industry," he added.

On the other hand, Fred Patzel, chairman of the Lincoln Citizens Against Liquor-by-the-Drink, predicted a decline in moral standards in the city.

'Blind People'

"I didn't think there could be that many blind people in Lincoln," he commented.

Police Chief Joe Carroll said Tuesday that whether the department will need an increase in personnel or not to handle enforcement problems "will be entirely up to the City Council and the state liquor commission."

"The degree of enforcement will depend a whole lot on the attitude they take in granting licenses — if they are conservative, and scrutinize each application, it could make enforcement much easier than it now exists with bottle clubs," the chief forecast.

Walter Haase, executive secretary of the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission, said local hopefuls can "start applying Wednesday if they wish," although he noted that the commission will have to receive a certification from the city clerk that the referendum question was approved.

Have 30 Days

The City Council will then be notified of Class C license applications and will have 30 days to make a recommendation to the commission.

The issue was defeated 2-1 by city voters in its last trial in 1946.

Incumbents Lead In County

Early morning tabulations showed three Lancaster County Courthouse incumbents slowly pulling away from their challengers.

A fourth, County Treasurer Carl Berg, was locked in a tight struggle with former State Purchasing Agent Willard Wells.

County Commissioner Ken-Bourne was the apparent victor over Paul Stoehr in a third district race.

Other apparent winners were County Clerk Carl Hartman and Commissioner Ralph Harlan.

Republican incumbent Bourne will be starting a third term in office. He was board chairman in 1965.

Stressed Experience

Bourne stressed experience in comparison to opponent Paul Stoehr, Democrat, whose only previous bid for public office was an unsuccessful fight for a seat on the Lincoln Airport Authority in 1965.

Stoehr, 51, is a former restaurant operator.

Harlan, 64, a Democrat, waged an active campaign against Republican Lawrence Murphy in seeking a third term on the board.

He is persently serving as chairman, having previously served in that capacity from 1961 through 1963.

A Hickman farmer, cattle feeder and land developer, Harlan has emphasized keeping a rural representative on the board.

Murphy, a 33-year-old attorney, was defeated in his 1964 bid for legislature from the 28th district and was an unsuccessful candidate for City Council in 1965.

Murphy said in filing for the post that a "new, vigorous county commissioner who recognizes the heritage of Lincoln would mean progress for all".

Hartman, 54, won re-election as county clerk against Mrs. Carol Walker, the only woman seeking county office.

One of two Democratic incumbents in the Court House, Hartman is a former real estate man and chairman of the legislative committee of the Nebraska County Clerks Assn.

Mrs. Walker, 33, has been active in Republican circles and is a legal secretary, housewife and mother.

Succeeding retiring County Assessor Arthur Davis is his chief deputy, Fritz Meyer, 52, a Republican.

Meyer easily defeated Lawson Chadwick, the Democratic candidate who unsuccessfully sought a City Council seat in 1963 and was defeated in 1964 in his bid for the legislature from the 27th district.

Berg, 75, fighting for his eighth term on the Republican ticket, has been Lancaster County Treasurer for 30 years. He was first elected in 1938, after having been appointed in 1936 to fill an unexpired term.

Wells, 61, served as deputy county clerk for four years prior to his appointment as purchasing agent in 1963. Governor Frank Morrison requested Wells to relinquish his state post this fall due to his candidacy for county treasurer.

He also was Deputy Cuming County treasurer for nine years.

The need for modernizing the treasurer's office to provide more services for tax payers and Berg's age have been the main issues presented to voters. Berg would be 80 at the completion of the next term.

Wells had charged the present operation is outdated. He has urged mailing of real estate tax bills to property owners, updating of accounting procedures plus more emphasis on consolidating the city and county billing functions.

The incumbent has stated that he feels the new county-city building will make it possible to modernize the office and consolidate many city-county treasurer's activities for savings to the taxpayers.

'All Will Be Done'

Of Wells' proposals, Berg has said, "All of the things mentioned by Wells will be taken care of."

In uncontested county races, the following Republican incumbents were reelected:

Paul Douglas, 37, won his second term as county attorney.

Wilford F. Sanders, 64, Clerk of the District Court.

Kenneth Ferguson, 42, won a third term as Register of Deeds.

Hugh S. Dillon, 63, was re-elected County Engineer and Surveyor.

Glenn Turner, County Superintendent of Schools since 1943, was returned to the non-political post unopposed.

Karnopp Leads Hot Sheriff Race

The spirited battle drew more interest than any other county contest.

Sheriff Karnopp, a 56-year-old Republican, has been sheriff since 1950.

During the campaign, Colin, 45, owner and manager of Colin Electric for 20 years, had emphasized modernization of procedures, thorough screening and investigation of all personnel and use of patrol cars both day and night.

Karnopp, a deputy for eight years prior to his election as sheriff, ran "strictly on my record". Throughout he expressed pride in the way his office has operated and campaigned on the basis that "for the money spent, taxpayers are getting good, honest law enforcement".

As evidence that the sheriff's race has been a hot one, charges that Colin was "misleading the public" and "running a campaign of insinuations and innuendos" were met with a counter-charge by Colin that he and his supporters were running a "smear campaign".

And in the past week, a former Karnopp deputy said organized gambling has existed in the county for several years with the sheriff's knowledge and apparent lack of action. "A political lie", Karnopp retorted.

GOP Gain Of 50 Seats Endanger Great Society

Washington (UPI) — The Republican Party scored a major triumph at the polls Tuesday with a net indicated gain of 50 or more House seats—more than enough to frustrate President Johnson's future plans for the Great Society.

The GOP showing left only one major question in the way of renewal of the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition that dominated the House for all but the last two of the postwar years.

That question was whether the new crop of Republican and Southern Democratic leaders would be sufficiently astute to cash in on their opportunity to kill or amend legislation they don't like.

Despite the Democratic paper majority in the new 90th Congress, the revived Republican bloc could join with the Southerners to scuttle expansion of the Great Society.

This fact of political life was underscored by the narrow majorities received by the administration's more controversial programs in the 89th Congress.

A foreign aid cut was averted by a House vote of 193 to 191, Medicare at one point could have been killed by a switch of 24 votes and the minimum wage bill could have been lost by a change of three votes.

The President's anti-poverty bill would have gone down with the switch of 21 votes and the 1966 civil rights bill, which later died in the Senate, would have been defeated in the House by a change of 10 votes.

But leadership must be present to take full advantage of the new power structure in the House and the question is who — if anyone —will provide it.

The main architects of the old coalition were Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., and Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind. Smith lost in the primary and Halleck has been succeeded by Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., who has yet to have his leadership tested.

The record of recent close votes also is not the whole story. There were times where the administration had votes in reserve and loyal Democrats who preferred not to be recorded could hold back to see if they were needed. In the 90th Congress, the administration may insist on such votes.

City May Get Soybean Plant

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

What will be the world's largest soybean processing plant may be located in Lincoln if a reported transaction between the Lincoln Grain Inc. and the Archer Daniels Midland Co. (ADM) is carried out.

According to reports, ADM, a Minneapolis-based firm, would acquire the facilities from Lincoln Grain Inc. ADM would also purchase land at the Burlington industrial tract in northeast Lincoln for the processing plant which would process 15,000 tons of soybeans daily.

The new plant would operate 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

ADM operates plants in 15 states with a complex of 30 terminal elevators, 22 grain merchandising offices, 11 processing plants, five export grain terminals, 13 research service laboratories, a feed plant in Mexico and sales offices throughout North America.

Comment Coming

A spokesman for Lincoln Grain Inc. said an announcement was planned in "a few days", but that no comment would be made at this time.

Although grain is the main agricultural activity for ADM agricultural marketing activities, the company also holds a dominant position as a processor of other commodities. These include soybeans, flour, dehydrated alfalfa, marine oils, linseed meal and linseed oil.

ADM holds memberships in commodity exchanges at Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Duluth, Omaha, St. Louis, Memphis, Portland, Seattle, Peoria, and Winnipeg.

To 130 Workers

Indications are that the new plant would start with an employment of 70 and build up to about 130 employees. It is expected that production would begin in September 1967.

ADM has featured a unique concept in agricultural marketing and serves everyone from farm to market, including the farmer, trader, merchandiser, processor, or manufacturer of finished foods and feeds.

According to available information the new plant would be the biggest soybean processing or extracting plant in the world.

House Speaker Given 21st Term

Boston (UPI) — House Speaker John W. McCormack Tuesday was elected to his 21st consecutive term in Congress.

McCormack, who was first elected to Congress in 1928, under President Herbert Hoover, was unopposed. Only Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y. out-terms McCormack.

All-The-Way Voters

Dixville Notch, N.H. (AP)— The five voters in this normally Republican community voted straight tickets. Four cast straight Republican ballots and one a straight Democratic ballot.

Election Seen As Beginning By Tiemann

Omaha (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Norbert Tiemann said Tuesday night he views his election as "neither a victory nor success — but rather as a beginning — a coming together in a unity of purpose."

The Wausa banker continued "success will come when we are working together. And I do plan on working together.

"I plan on establishing a closer liaison between the governor's office and the Legislature than we've had in the past . . . I also plan on working closely with the leader in various towns and cities across the state in a concentrated effort to revitalize those Nebraska communities which need revitalization."

"I take your election of me as governor as your vote of approval for the programs that I outlined during the campaign. I assure you those programs have not been mere campaign. I meant them then . . . and I intend to live by them for the next four years."

"There's a time for dreaming . . . and a time for doing," he continued. "Well, the time for dreaming is over. From here on it's going to be a matter of doing! . . . of getting Nebraska on the move."

Low Income Housing Plan Gains Comfortable Margin

The Lincoln Housing Authority's referendum on low income housing apparently was approved by a comfortable margin Tuesday.

The vote will permit the Lincoln Housing Authority to provide low income housing by participating in federal programs in cooperation with the city, without the expenditure of local tax money.

The authority is also authorized under provisions of the referendum to purchase the 1,000 dwelling units west of the old Lincoln Air Force Base.

Kenneth King, housing authority chairman, said passage of the measure means "immediate action will be taken."

Obviously pleased with the outcome, King said he had felt that the authority and other backers of the proposal "might have neglected to start early enough" to inform voters of what the proposal will mean, but added, "I feel we got to a lot of people.

"We will act promptly in getting something going as far as the elderly are concerned," he said.

"Our method of approach will be to contact the various religious groups who contacted us, and ask them to cooperate in setting up a priority system of projects," King explained.

He said the authority will not "arbitrarily decide who will be first—this will be based on need and on who expressed interest first."

Projects deemed worthy by the housing authority will be presented to the City Council for its approval. If given, applications for federal approval will be forwarded to the Public Housing Administration office in Chicago.

Knight, Luedtke, Simpson Lead In Legislative Tests

Lancaster County's contests for three seats in the Legislature found incumbent Sen. John E. Knight leading Rudolph D. Andersen, Roland A. Luedtke in front of James C. Weaver and Harold D. Simpson ahead of Charles E. Wilcox.

Knight, 41, president of an insurance agency and officer of a bank, gained a strong early lead over Andersen, 66, a retired postal employe and real estate salesmen in the 26th district.

In a rematch of their primary struggle Luedtke, 42, an attorney was holding an almost 2 to 1 lead over Weaver, 62, a gasoline and oil distributor.

They were vying for the 28th District seat vacated by Hal Bauer.

Simpson, 40, a milling and elevator company employe, took a narrow lead over Wilcox, 45, manager of a real estate and auction company. They faced each other in north Lincoln's new 46th District.

Hard, Tough Decision

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A prime battle in city government is in the making and a lot of Lincoln's future hangs in the balance. The issue is one of zoning, to be drawn on the question of the future location of Sears, Roebuck & Co. This national retailing firm has said that it wants to abandon its downtown location and has settled on a site known as the Conant tract immediately east of Gateway Shopping Center.

Zoning of this tract for business had recently been turned down and has now been resurrected by a five-to-two vote of the City Council. Some have questioned the propriety and even legality of this action since there is a city ordinance prohibiting a change of zoning applications being made more than once in any 12-month period. The most you can say for this is that, like it or not, prohibition has seldom meant much. If nothing else, an issue can always be raised by some member of the council who had voted previously with the prevailing side. Most of the time, such an obliging member is not too difficult to find.

Raising An Issue

But argument over the parlimentary mechanics involved here is a waste of time because the matter is big enough to get on the docket regardless of Roberts' rules. It is a matter that has been seething in local business and government circles for quite some time.

It has long been known that Sears' lease on its present quarters would soon be expiring. What the big retailer did at that time has been considered one of the keys if not the key to the future of Lincoln. If Sears stayed downtown, it would solidify the trade base of this area and if Sears moved out, it would distintegrate the area.

That is undoubtedly an exaggeration but to whatever degree it is true, it serves as a prime motive in the actions and decisions that are to be made on this pending zoning matter. Sears has not said it would leave Lincoln if it fails to get the Conant tract zoning. It has not said it absolutely will not consider any location in downtown Lincoln. The fact is that an active downtown Lincoln group has been working in the hopes of putting together for Sears a real estate package it could buy, one that afforded it a good downtown location with ample room for a new retail store and sufficient off-street parking. This is not as absurd as it might sound because there are a number of areas in the downtown core that are marginal economic units as they now stand from a tax and profits point of view.

The other side of things has to do strictly with zoning, although you can't really separate zoning and economics. At the moment, the City Council faces the classic zoning monstrosity and not for the first time in its history. It is asked to zone for a specific purpose and use rather than on a broad classification basis. In other words, it is currently looking at a request to satisfy Sears after it has already decided the zoning in question is poor policy. It has done just this in the past. It has zoned land for a specific use and then been stuck with that zoning when the original use never came into being. This is without a doubt the worst possible approach to city planning and the greatest abortion of solid, legal zoning that could take place.

As Mayor Dean Petersen has said, this is simply to ask if the zoning change will be profitable for its beneficiary, not if it is good for the city and its future. The day the City Council makes a decision in this matter on that basis is the day that zoning is given a knockout punch.

Does this, then, mean that the council has no alternative but to deny the Sears request? It does mean this unless Sears can come up with something to prove the change requested is advisable from a zoning point of view. It is not going to be enough for Sears to show that the project is advisable from their own economic point of view.

We have no doubt that Sears could make money on the Conant tract and that such a move would be easier than anything that might be accomplished if Sears could show that the Conant tract is the best of any in the city outside the downtown area. But if it is bad zoning for Lincoln, if it is spot zoning for Sears alone, then how can it be anything but denied? If not, how can the city turn down a multitude of other developers who could turn large tracts into shopping centers at a handsome profit? How could it turn down the speculator who wanted to put a high-rise apartment building in the middle of a restricted residential area?

Only One Answer

Sears is a fine asset for Lincoln and no one wants it to leave Lincoln but if the question is Sears or Lincoln, there should be no debate as to the answer. Council reconsideration of this zoning case is not entirely out of line but, in the end, members will have to hew to their public responsibility and let the chips fall where they may.

LBJ Won't Think Of Letting Up

WASHINGTON — After Lyndon Johnson suffered a massive coronary and returned to the Senate he used to carry around a small card, resembling a driver's license which he would pull out of his pocket and proudly display to show that he had recovered. He called it his cardiographic certificate.

Since then, Lyndon Johnson has forgotten all about the heart attack which sent him to the Bethesda Naval hospital 11 years ago — the same year that President Eisenhower suffered his attack. But unlike Eisenhower, who played golf and bridge during a great deal of his remaining presidential term, Johnson has worked harder than any other President in our experience covering the White House.

His work day would collapse the ordinary man of the same age. It begins at 7 a.m. when he reads the newspapers and goes over reports in bed. He gets to the office at around 9, and from that minute on, his telephone switchboard is lit up like a Christmas tree and his staff is jumping around like an army of waiters at a banquet.

He never stops for noonday lunch. Sometimes the cabinet, supposed to meet around 2, is kept waiting 30 or 40 minutes while Lyndon tries to convince a congressman to change his vote. Finally, at about 3 p.m., he eats a hamburger or a steak sandwich, and tumbles into bed for a nap. He's up again at 5 p.m., takes a shower, and is back at his desk until 9:30 p.m., unless he has to attend a state dinner at 8. Normally when there are no guests the President dines with Mrs. Johnson at 10 o'clock.

At around 11:30 p.m. he has a rubdown for about 45 minutes during part of which he drowses. Then he reads government reports in bed until he goes to sleep around 1 a.m. Usually at 3:15 a.m. He is awake again and calls the White House information center to get the latest news on the bombing over Viet Nam. This is the hour when the fliers return.

Theoretically, the President's doctors would like to see him follow a less rigorous schedule. But they are realists. They know that their patient is a compulsive worker and that he is not happy unless he is working. Even at the ranch, though he gets more diversion, the President continues to work.

Not only does he like work, but he remembers that the unhappiest period of his life was when he was vice president with nothing to do. Now he has a chance to do the things which for years he dreamed of doing — revitalizing the schools, the colleges, the big cities, building dams and cleaning up the rivers. So, regardless of health, he isn't going to stop.

The doctors aren't going to fuss over Lyndon Johnson's work schedule as much as the Secret Service men who worry themselves sick over the risks he takes by shaking hands in the crowds.

Because the doctors know that a President lives for history.

Patchwork Prairie Country

If you have a bunch of marigolds that are somewhat dry, scatter them over thick broths and stews. The slightly bitter petals impart a flavor like saffron but more haunting. This is what the Scots do for unusual seasonings.

I have often been tempted to add rose petals to apple jelly for a unique flavor but could never quite bring myself to that point. I like apple jelly that tastes like apples.

Now comes the bit with the marigolds in the stew. It may be delicious but I don't have a yearning at present to make a haunting stew. I would imagine stew could be made quite haunting if a little green-eyed bug should cling to the marigolds that were tossed in for flavor.

Milo, milo everywhere . . . in every bin, overall pocket and car seat. The harvest is completed now here at the farm. The Farmer has cut a hundred and forty acres, hauled and unloaded it at his own pace which has made a long work season. Everything went very well until the last ten acres remained. The fuel pump on the combine broke which made a hurried trip to a distant town necessary . . . hence the milo in the car.

The corn harvest is moving along at a fast pace. We do not have corn but the tractors and wagon loads of corn go by our place daily. It seems to be a race against the first snowfall. The wire cribs are bulging with golden ears as the days grow shorter. Now that I look out of my window I also get the feeling of urgency. A few feathery flakes of snow have begun to fall. They zig-zag and flutter about as if they have lost their direction.

I cleaned windows last week when Indian summer warmed the air and gave the glass an extra gleam in the bright sunlight. Now with the flakes of snow I see bobbing around, I am reminded it is soon time to mound the roses for winter. A new season brings a new kind of work to be done. The garden tools must be collected and put away until a new season demands their use. Peony bushes must be clipped and the branches burned and the birdbath emptied and brought inside.

November takes a blunt-edged stylus and writes finis across the landscape. All of the trees except the oak have lost their leaves. Their branches claw at the sky like witches' fingers reaching for something out of their grasp.

The fields have been reaped of their harvest and only dry leaves and empty stalks stand in the rows. "Conclusion" is scrawled across the fields now in big, bold strokes. By the wayside empty seed pods rustle and bright rose hips have wrinkled into small bits and fallen to the ground. There is such a finality to November. In one broad sweep, it writes "The End" to the entire growing season. If maturity has not been reached, it is too late now for November is impatient.

Perhaps it is good that November has Thanksgiving tucked in at the conclusion of the month. It is a gay, cheerful time when families gather and the feast is put before everyone as a reminder of the bountiful harvest. It heralds the beginning of the entire festive season including Christmas and directs one's thoughts to gay moments and happy days.

We have received a Christmas toy catalog which makes me wish that I had a few years of childhood to be spent in this age. Mechanical dolls and trains almost overwhelm me. Such lovely dolls they are, too . . . they wiggle and shake, they talk and laugh and cry.

Yet I wonder if little girls are happier today with their elaborate dolls than I was when I found my first doll beneath the tree. She was just a "plain Jane" compared to the lovely dolls of today but I have the idea that a happy little girl of forty yaers ago knew just as much joy as a happy little girl of today. "Happy" is one word with one meaning. It fits into any century. It can be had by all.

Homemade Fun

Beatrice, Neb.

I was quite amused when I read the letter, "Bygone Days." Yes, times have changed since the so-called horse-and-buggy days. People used to work for the pleasures they had, not expecting Uncle Sam to do it for them. The trend now is to "ask and you will receive."

But we should say "no." Some day this money will have to be paid back, and by our children and grandchildren. It isn't right to impose this burden on them, just so we can enjoy fine lakes and all the other things paid for with tax dollars. Of course, most of those who pay the tax dollars have no time or money to enjoy the fine things. The river used to be good enough for us to go swimming on, or for boating.

No, we don't drive a horse and buggy or use oil lamps, and we don't want to. We all enjoy electricity and the things it can do. But I can see very little for future generations except debts made by someone pleasure-bent, with no thought in mind but themselves.

I remember my parents telling about the good times they had at box socials, pie suppers, barn dances and sleigh rides in the winter. They did not have to be in a fine night club or have a fancy boat on a lake to be happy. Their happiness was not made for them but by them. Let's not condemn them. Let's give them a little praise for the things they accomplished without the help of Uncle Sam.

Singing, Prayers

Lincoln, Neb.

What is wrong with singing hymns and Christmas carols in school? The children of our country should learn "America," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "America, the Beautiful" and the carols, and parents should take the time to teach them. All four of my children knew these songs before they started to school.

Children pray at home and in Sunday school, and it doesn't hurt them to pray every day in school, either. If they are going to take prayers and some of the most beautiful songs ever written out of school, why have school, at all?

Parents should give their children a beginning knowledge of right and wrong at home. In school they learn faster in a group and with a good teacher. Many people can't afford a piano in their homes, so the musical training received in school is a fine thing.

Jet Flights

Lincoln, Neb.

We read too often about the espionage in our country carried out by members of the diplomatic corps or commerical representatives of the USSR or satellites. Expulsion of such individuals is our usual answer.

Will not the direct jet flights between Washington or New York and Moscow serve to aid in more of this Communist infiltration.

Hunters Unwelcome

Waverly, Neb.

After furnishing hunting and fishing and camping for a large number of people —hundreds—for many years, free of charge, I believe there are very few decent, law-abiding sportsmen.

In 30 years time, I have observed many people and many violations. Now when I see a carload of hunters or fishermen drive in, I know they are going to do me no good and invariably they will do me harm, if nothing more than to unload rubbish in the drives, around the lake and along the stream.

I keep cattle on one farm the year around and this year I posted the place because last year someone killed a cow for me. I placed large signs every few rods along the road. On opening day this year there were 13 hunters in the same field as the cattle.

I blame the Game Commission for a large part of this lawlessness. They sell a man a license and tell him to "go get 'em." They should impress them that they should not hunt where the farmer doesn't want them. The commission collects the license fees and the farmer collects dead animals, shot-up signs, broken windows and sassy hunters. I believe the farmers are going to educate the Game Commission. This year two complete sections of land near here were posted against hunting and next year there will be more. On a warm day if a person should leave his coat at the end of the field, they will steal it. Also, they have stolen apples, walnuts, watermelons, tools and even chickens and eggs.

Next year I am going to post all the land I own and all I operate, hoping we will have law-enforcement officials who will cooperate.

The Price Of Success

Will success spoil Nebraska?

We understand that Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney and his fine staff of assistants no longer look forward to an evening away from home Saturday nights. They run into too much criticism. The lunatic fringe is not satisfied with an undefeated season. We do not know what they want. There is only one alternative to an all victorious season. And that is a losing season. And who really wants that?

No one should know this more than Nebraska which for more than 10 years learned all about poor football. It was a time when it was unusual to win half its games, more normally to fetch a victory once or twice in ten starts.

Now by a great happenstance we have got a coach who knows the business far better than the average good coach. He has assistants who know how to coach. And by special good judgment they know how to recruit educable players. They have done this within the rules of the game. It has added up to a school which made a great comeback without going out of bounds. There has been no hint of an investigation. The team has brought more Nebraska boys into the big time than any previous coaching administration. But unfortunately it has brought some new hard breathing spectators who are fouling the air with their nonsense.

But we assure the coaching staff that it is only a loud minority that is stinking up the place. Victory is too rich a dish for them.

The burden is not on the team, the school or the coaches. It is rather on the spectators. They haven't learned how to succeed. And in a situation that is otherwise altogether deserving they are the only flunk outs.

We Must Change

"The tumult and the shouting dies;
The captains and the kings depart . . ."

The above is just a way of saying that the election is over. The long campaign is finished. Nebraska has made its decision for better or worse. And we will all survive the results.

But now that the hoarse voices are silent and the hot breath is cool again, it is time to think constructively.

We have a record number of state referenda and we have had far too many in recent election years. By piecemeal prohibitions we have just about put our state out of businss. We are misconstruing the constitutional process. A constitution is not a legislative instrument. It is rather a set of broad principles to set meets and bounds to legislative action while allowing a state the freedom of action to meet the new contingencies.

We have in recent years closed off so many areas of action by piecemeal resorts to referendum that no administration can fulfill its promises to the electorate.

We owe it to ourselves to write a more fitting constitution and put an end to so much kitchen table legislating. We are abusing the real meaning of the initiative and referendum and we must quit it if we are to be a viable state. The new state administration will be doomed to failure if we do not do so.

We are laying siege to our own castle and we have ourselves about whipped. The measure of a good state is what it can do, not what it does not permit itself to do.

Table Near The Orchestra

Nebraska Restaurant Association members were advised at their closing banquet to tell their story to the American people. The advice was given them as a part of the retail food business of the nation. Unless this is done, members were told, others will make a scapegoat of the industry for one reason or another.

It certainly is a fact that restaurants are a part of the total retail food industry. Grocery stores are now having their problems with housewives organizing boycotts against supposedly high prices. The restaurant people should at least be aware of what has happened to the grocery chains.

The restaurant business faces some of the same difficulties. Prices of a meal have gone up considerably over the years. There is no question that you cannot buy the meal out today that you could five or 10 years ago for the same price.

By the same token, the restaurant is paying more for its food at wholesale than it was five or 10 years ago. Also, just as the housewife has seemingly approved of added attractions and services in the super-markets, the American people have seemed to go for a higher level approach in restaurants.

Today, people want soft if not live music with their meals. They want linens on the table and good silverware. And they want service, service, service. The average eating place of today has changed as much from its predecessor as has everything else in our world.

The American people have liked the improvements in public eating places. They ought to be willing to pay the price entailed but chances are they are slow to equate prices and improvements.

Illness Delays Johnson Moves

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has a coonskin all his own which he should bring home to the White House and nail to the wall. It consists of his work habits.

They are condemning him to repeated physical upsets which, if continued, will impair the efficacy of the presidency. The most artful presentation of these upsets, the most skillful exercises in public relations, cannot overcome the common-sense understanding that illness has a cause, no matter who is afflicted.

President Truman had a motto: "The buck stops here." President Johnson has changed that to: "Everything belongs here." And when he says everything, he means everything, including the details.

Such a system, added to his passion for secrecy which is curiously joined to love of the spotlight, means endless exertion, endless checking. Johnson obviously works hard, but few know how many late hours he spends keeping tab not only on important matters but on routine details of letters and autographed photographs. Mrs. Johnson often joins him, saying little but keeping him company.

In his political as well as his medical interest, the President has need to review the system which places a premium on what is urgent rather than what is important.

Last weekend he offered his new medical problems, which fortunately are minor, as the reason why he could not carry out his plans for a whirlwind campaign finish in critical states. The press, he suggested, had invented those plans.

Politicians, especially those in trouble, did not need the press to remind them that the plans were real, as they had been coping with advance men and secret service on the arrangements, dislocating their own schedules in the process, and spending their own money to do it. But there was nothing for it but tea and sympathy.

Then the President went into headline action on legislation and executive affairs and even set forward his medical timetable. The candidates now suspect a public relations gambit to cover up Johnson's suspicion that their case was hopeless anyway. It is another crisis of credibility added in an already unhappy campaign.

In a superb statement on the white backlash, the President showed that he can be a national leader of his party. It is probabiy too late to help. Perhaps he did not realize the strength of the issue until he returned from Viet Nam, a thought unlikely to console his party and its election losers.

NES Is Broadened To Cover Elections

New York (AP) — An advanced vote counting system, used for the first time in an off-year election, provided identical totals on all major races Tuesday night for the two news services and the three major television networks.

The News Election Service (NES), formed in the presidential election year of 1964, was expanded this year to report and tabulate votes for governor, U.S. Senate and U.S. House.

The NES was formed by the Associated Press, United Press International, the American Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co.

These five members divided NES coverage responsibilities in the 50 states. NES sent about 94,000 precinct reporters to individual polling places and assigned at least one reporter to every county in the nation.

Throughout the evening, cumulative returns for each race were distributed at frequent intervals to each NES member at the state level and were fed by wire and telephone into a national relay center in New York, where they were distributed to newsrooms and studios of the five members.

The NES members, in turn, relayed the returns to their members, subscribers and affiliates. Thus, at any given time, identical vote totals on all races appeared on the display boards of television stations and on news wires in the offices of newspapers and broadcasters all over the country.

An innovation this year was the use of twin computers in Los Angeles to tabulate returns for the 11 Western states. Precinct and county reporters in these states—some 24,500 of them—telephoned returns directly to two collection centers in Los Angeles. This information was processed through the computers and fed back to NES centers in each state over a system of high-speed printer circuits.

Graffman Solo Recital Captivates Local Crowd

By RUTH ARDIS

The young pianist created a sensation with a brilliant solo recital for the patrons of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra Association.

Mr. Graffman showed himself to be an unusually able interpreter of varied works of the romantic repertoire. With the exception of two Scarlatti sonatas, the entire recital consisted of works from the romantic period. Yet it made for an evening of infinite variety because of the artist's sensitive interpretation of each work.

His dazzling technique, evident throughout the evening, was most apparent in the brilliant Sonata in B by Liszt which he played with a technical ease which discounted the fiendishly difficult passages.

But Mr. Graffman is also a master of tender lyrical melodies. Chopin's two Nocturnes, Op. 27, were played with warmth and eloquence, without falling into an excess of emotion.

Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 110 would undoubtedly have been the highlight of the evening if Mr. Graffman had not programmed Brahms' "Variations on a Theme of Paganini, Op. 35." The performance of this magnificant set of variations, each of which demands a particular technical or interpretative facility, climaxed an evening of impeccable artistry.

In response to long and enthusiastic applause, Mr. Graffman performed two "Songs Without Words" by Mendelssohn. The delicacy and tempo of the "Spinning Song" was absolutely breathtaking and provided a thrilling ending to a superb concert.

Eisenhower Casts Ballot At Gettysburg

Gettysburg, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, showing up earlier than expected, appeared at the Barlow fire hall here Tuesday to cast his vote in the general election.

Dressed in a shirt, tie and sport coat, the five-star general greeted the some seven persons in the polling place cheerily and stepped into the booth where he remained about a minute.

Eisenhower was given ballot No. 24. He was accompanied into the hall by two Secret Service agents who escorted him from his nearby Gettysburg farm.

Eisenhower shook hands all around.

Irish Minister Will Leave Post To Younger Man

Dublin, Ireland (AP) — Prime Minister Sean Lemass announced Tuesday he will deliver his resignation to President Eamon De Valera Thursday.

"My successor as premier and party leader will, I hope, be chosen at a meeting of the Fianna Fail parliamentary deputies Wednesday," the 67-year-old Lemass added at a news conference.

His successor is expected to be Finance Minister Jack Lynch, 49.

Lemass denied reports he was quitting because he is ill.

"I am convinced it is in the interests of country, government and the Fianna Fail party that responsibility should pass to a younger man," he said.

Lemass will remain a member of Parliament.

War's End Not Early, Says Official

Warsaw, Poland (AP)—Canadian Foreign Minister Paul Martin said Tuesday night he saw little hope for an early end to the war in Viet Nam.

Martin made the statement to newsmen after four days of talks with Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz, Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki and other officials of the Polish Communist government. He flies Wednesday to Moscow.

The main purpose of his trip, he said, is to search for ways to end the war in Viet Nam. Reporters asked if his talks with Cyrankiewicz and Rapacki, participants in the Soviet Bloc Moscow Summit Conference last month encouraged him about the possibility of peace negotiations.

Goldberg Plans Peace Mission

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg will undertake a peace mission to Southeast Asia — including South Viet Nam — after the current U.N. Assembly session, a U.S. spokesman said Tuesday.

The spokesman said Goldberg had been asked by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk to make the trip "when his duties at the U.N. permit." He said this obviously would not be until the assembly adjourns Dec. 20.

The announcement was made after Goldberg's return from consultations with the President in Texas. The spokesman said that except for South Viet Nam he could not say which countries would be included in the visit.

HOW TO HELP THE UNDERACHIEVER . . .

Discipline Necessary For Success In School

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

Discipline is a necessary element in a child's environment if he is to be successful in school.

Children have neither the background to decide what is worth learning nor the self-discipline to keep themselves consistently attentive to their homework. Consequently, the parent who, with kindly firmness, insists on satisfactory homework is fulfilling part of his parental responsibility.

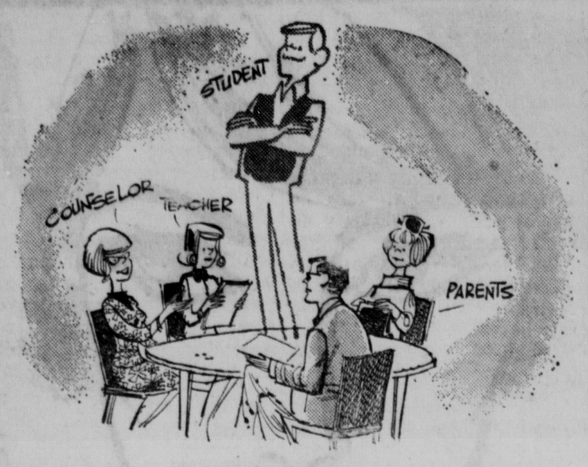
Here let me sound a word of caution. A child cannot be driven into that for which he lacks the ability, the background or the technical skills.

In a disciplinary program, parents, teachers and counselors must all cooperate.

Will Respond

When all of the adults in a child's life expect and demand the same behavior, the child will respond if he is able.

In one case, I was asked to help Raymond improve his chemistry grades. The plan set up included course organization, review and studying for complete understanding. Although Ray's grade in chemistry improved from a "D" to a "C" in the last two months of the semester, the boy actually was capable of "A" work.



In reviewing the case I realized that lack of firm discipline seemed to be a major factor.

Ray's parents felt that a "C" was not too bad. His school had allowed him, as a member of the school swimming team, to miss his chemistry class on eight occasions.

Wrong Attitude

With neither the school nor his parents taking the attitude that chemistry is really important, one could scarcely put too much blame on an immature teen-ager for adopting the same attitude.

Had Ray's parents insisted that he give priority to chemistry and had the principal of the school disciplined his swimming coach for underrating the importance of scholarship, Ray's efforts toward improvement would undoubtedly have been more consistent. The adults concerned with the training of this lad failed him.

Two moves were in order. First, I suggested that Ray's parents contact the school officials and that they both take a firmer stand with the lad. Next, I discussed with Ray next semester's schedule suggesting that he schedule chemistry at a time in the day's program when athletic events would not interfere with it.

In addition we worked out a remedial summer program. Ray agreed that he would review the first semester of chemistry during August. His parents agreed to give him their support and to encourage him in this endeavor. They did and he succeeded.

It must be remembered that while scholarship cannot, except in very unusual instances, be raised by means of discipline alone, it still is an essential element in the program.

Lynch Presents Case Before Omaha Council

Omaha (UPI) — Francis Lynch, Omaha's former public safety director, Tuesday presented his case before the City Council concerning criticism he leveled at Mayor A. V. Sorensen.

Last week the mayor asked for and received Lynch's recignation following publication of a letter in which the public safety director questioned Sorensen's direction of the Near North Side riots last summer.

At the invitation of the council, Lynch told the seven city fathers the mayor asked for a report on the riots.

Lynch said included in the report was his personal opinions of why the riot areas were not permanently and quickly pacified.

He laid the blame at the mayor's door.

The mayor, attending a meatpacking industry conference in Chicago, did not appear at the session. His three-page statement was read by Council President Fred Jacobberger.

Lynch said he was sought out by the mayor for the job as public safety director. He said the mayor assured him he would have sole responsibility and authority for the Omaha police force policy if he came to the city.

"Mr. Sorensen promised me no interference from a private source," Lynch said. "Mr. Sorensen changed his mind and broke his promise."

He said the mayor took over the policy planning and failed to approve the advice given to maintain peace and order on the Near North Side.

Since the July disturbances, Lynch said, he has had no part in the policy of the police agency. Nor did he approve of the creation of the mayor's so-called three-man patrol, he said.

Despite this, Lynch said, he has stayed on as public safety director "for four difficult months."

He added that none of his statements were to be construed as personal attacks on the mayor. He said his disagreement was in the mayor refusing to permit him full rein of the police division.

Lynch said his report to the mayor was ordered after J. C. Harris, president of the Omaha chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) informed Sorensen that danger and intimidation remained on the Near North Side.

Lynch said adequate police protection and the beefing up of the police force to put down what he called hoodlum gangs was never accomplished. He said it stays at a standstill.

He said the area remains a "jungle" endangering the lives of 35,000 Negroes, while 200-300 hoodlums roam without police sureveillance.

He said the gangs were not recreation or job-finding problems. Instead, he said, they are "police problems."

"If it is a matter of law," he said. "I am inflexible."

He said the mayor's removal of police patrols and replacement of them with the three-man patrol was not in line with furnishing police protection.

"It certainly was not a stroke of genius," he added.

The mayor in his statement assured the council that he has ordered acting safety director L. K. Smith and Police Chief C. Harold Ostler to enforce the law. He said no restraint has been put on them.

"We can go a long way toward eliminating the causes of past disturbances if we jointly commit ourselves to do all we can, within our abilities, to ease and eliminate the tensions and turmoil which are the basic underlying cause of disturbances in Omaha," he said.

"In the meantime, be assured that the mayor is not going to 'play policeman'," he added. "Law enforcement in the city of Omaha is in the hands of our police officials."

Home Ec Workshops, Short Courses Slated This Winter

Home economics workshops and short courses are scheduled to be given throughout Nebraska this winter, according to Agnes Arthaud, assistant director of the University of Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service.

A total of 17 one-day workshops and 52 two or more-day short courses will be offered by the Extension Service on subjects ranging from refinishing furniture to consumer education.

Length of the short courses, which are taught by NU home economics specialists and area home agents, vary according to the depth of subject matter to be presented. The longest are four sessions.

"These programs provide an opportunity for teaching home economics subject matter in depth to groups of homemakers who have problems or interests in common," Miss Arthaud said.

"Several sessions or full-day workshops with smaller groups in attendance than at general meetings permit audience participation, individual counsel, and teaching of more information."

New audiences, including homemakers who cannot participate in organized home Extension clubs, are reached through these short courses, she explained.

Workshop topics include refinishing furniture, fitting garments, baby sitting, physical fitness, and bread making.

Short courses will be offered in the areas of foods and nutrition, clothing, health, home furnishings, and home management. Specific lessons will include "Food for Young Families," "Cooking for One or Two," and "Home Decoration."

These "classrooms in the country" are part of the Extension Service's efforts to extend theUniversity campus throughout the state, Miss Arthaud noted.

Educational Vacation Short Course Planned

Celebrate Nebraska's Centennial by taking "A Vacation With An Education."

The vacation is a July 18-21, 1967, short course, being jointly sponsored by the Nebraska Council of Home Extension Clubs and the University of Nebraska Co-operative Extension Service.

All Nebraska women who wish to become better informed about Nebraska's cultural heritage may attend, according to Ethel Saxton, district Extension supervisor.

Cost of the course, to be held at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, will be approximately $40. This covers room (twin beds), registration fees and instructional charges. Meals are extra.

Women who attend will register for two courses. They may choose from: Nebraska history, Nebraska art, Nebraska literature, prehistoric fossils, political and economic climate of the state, public speaking, producer-consumer relationships, choral directing, and community needs for young people.

"Purpose of the short course is to provide an opportunity to stimulate, develop, train and cultivate the homemaker to improve the quality of her home, her community, and the world she lives in," Miss Saxton said.

Class will be held four hours each day. Morning convocations, tours, and exhibits are also planned. Evening programs will include concerts, poetry reading, and musical and dramatic events. Specific commitments will be announced later.

Tours of the State Capital, Sheldon Art Gallery, Mueller Planetarium, Morrill Hall, and the Historical Society will supplement study. On exhibit during the session will be art, books, and crafts.

Information about registering for "A Vacation with An Education" is available at county Extension offices.

Boundaries For New East High Complex Discussed By School Board

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Boundary lines for the new junior-senior high school at the Lincoln East Educational Complex to be opened in the fall 1967 were discussed here Tuesday at the Board of Education regular meeting.

Several different membership projections were suggested by Ed Wahl, coordinator of school research, according to various assumptions about the availability of permits, transfer requirements and area enrollments.

No recommendation about boundaries was made to the board by Supt. Steven Watkins, although he said he would have one at the next meeting so that registration of students could be accomplished and classes and faculty planned.

Accounting For Transfers

The various projections, taking into account several possibilities about the number of pupils who would transfer if given the opportunity and other options, ranged between 385 and 487 junior high students in the fall of 1967 and between 459 and 810 senior high students.

Predictions for the fall of 1968 ranged between 364 and 496 junior high students and between 780 and 909 senior high pupils.

Possible growth in the area was not taken into consideration, Wahl informed the board.

The proposed boundaries on which the projections were based:

Junior High — On a line starting at So. 70th extending along Antelope Creek to So. 61st, north on 61st (extended) and Crestline Dr. to A St., east to a point south of the east edge of the Eastridge School site, north to O St., east to No. 17th, south and west to Antelope Creek and 70th, following the existing school district boundary between the two points.

Senior High Line

Senior High — On a line beginning at So. 70th and Antelope Creek, northwest to So. 56th, north to South St., east to So. 52nd, north to A St., west to So. 48th, north to Randolph, east to So. Cotner, northeast to Vine, east to No. 66th, north to X St., east to No. 68th, north to Holdrege, east to No. 84th, south and west to Antelope Creek and So. 70th, following the existing school district boundary between the two points.

Board member Robert Wekesser, questioning the apparently slight number of students to be taken out of the "overcrowded" Lincoln Northeast High School district the first year, was told that for three years the numbers at Northeast should continue to diminish.

It is "more desirable" to relieve the overcrowded conditions at a gradual pace, Ed Wahl explained, adding that most high school students would rather attend an overcrowded school than change schools.

Most Growth South

The board was informed that caution should be used in extending the boundary of the new East High School too far north since most of the city's growth during the last 18 months was found to be in the southern sections of the Capital City.

"Changing high school boundaries should be done as few times as possible," Wahl emphasized.

In other action Tuesday the board approved broadcasting of school musical programs to be taped during performance and saved for a series of weekly programs. Tapes, according to the agreement, will become the possession of the music department after the broadcast.

Dr. R. L. Fredstrom, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, and the three coordinators of elementary, junior high and senior high education reviewed the summer curriculum revision workshops for the board members and displayed instructional materials selected for classroom use.

James Cusik was named acting director of purchasing to replace Robert George whose resignation becomes effective Friday.

Many New Teachers Graduated From NU

A Lincoln Public Schools personnel report shows that 128 of 201 new teachers this year received degrees from the University of Nebraska.

Two of the new teachers are over 55 years old. Another is between 51 and 55 years of age.

Director of personnel Dr. Carroll Sawin presented the report on new teachers hired this year to the board of education meeting here Tuesday.

The new teachers brought the total number of certified contract school personnel to 1,385.

Sawin reported that the new teachers included 37 men and 164 women. 123 of them are between 20 and 25 years old.

21 Have Masters

Half of the new Lincoln instructors hired have had no teaching experience, and 178 of the 201 have a bachelors degree. Twenty - one new teachers have a masters and two have their Ph.D. degree.

Although well over half of the new personnel received their degree from the University, the others attended a total of 46 different colleges. Nebraska Wesleyan University contributed 12 of the new teachers with Kansas State University leading the out-of-state schools. Seventeen new personnel attended state institutions other than NWU and NU.

Of the total staff, Sawin indicated that 599 are elementary classroom teachers, including general assignment, elementary counselors and rapid learner teachers, and 520 are secondary classroom teachers.

Administrators

Elementary administrators number 46; secondary administrators, 32, and central administration, 40.

The schools have a total of 86 special assignment teachers for nursing, elementary physical education, elementary music, speech therapy homebound students, social work and elementary libraries. Ten consultants are on the staff for food, curriculum, music, adult education, and technical services.

For federal programs 39 teachers are employed and 13 administrators. The total staff less federal personnel who are not paid by the school district numbers 1,333.

After a special survey of the certified personnel this fall, Sawin found that last summer 12% of the professional staff taught summer school, 16% traveled extensively (minimum of four weeks), 22% attended summer school, 15% attended a workshop, and 24% worked outside the education field.

Elementary Parents Have School Friday

Friday once again will be school day for parents only at the Lincoln Public Schools.

Elementary children will have a holiday while teachers meet with parents for the first nine-weeks' grade report to be delivered orally in brief conferences.

This is the second year that release time granted to teachers from instructional duties has been granted to teachers in order to bring parents up to date on their students' progress.

Similar to last year, the teachers also will have a day of release time at the end of the semester and the third quarter. According to Asst. Supt. Dr. R. L. Fredstrom, conferences are required only after the first and third quarters.

Teachers have prepared examples of students' work in addition to regular grade reports for the 15-minute meetings. They also are interested in learning about the child's background from the parent, home environment and activities outside school, said Fredstrom.

Secondary students will attend classes according to their regular schedule Friday.

Power Stations' Reactor Changes Are Authorized

The board of managers of the Nebraska Public Power system announced Tuesday it has authorized a rearrangement of equipment at the Grand Island and Norfolk substations.

The board said the rearrangement was prompted by the recent failure of a reactor at the Norfolk substation.

The board said it approved the purchase of a new reactor from the General Electric Corp. at a cost of $12,000 for installation at the Grand Island substation, with a twin unit reactor located at Grand Island being transferred to the Norfolk substation.

The board said total costs would reach about $65,320.

Sheppard Trial Focuses On Unidentified Blood Trails

Cleveland, Ohio (AP) — The state placed Samuel H. Sheppard's thumbprint on the murder bed of his first wife, Marilyn, Tuesday, then set out to explore mysterious blood trails found after her 1954 slaying.

A state expert said blood, never typed and never identified as to source, but presumed to be Marilyn's, was found in places Sheppard was known to have been immediately after the July 4, 1954, slaying — a red leather chair in his den, and his son's bedroom.

Sheppard's second-degree murder retrial recessed at noon so seven men and five women jurors could be taken to vote. The trial began Oct. 24 and the jury has been locked up for a week of state testimony.

19 Days Later

Lt. Jerome Poelking, a stocky, dark-haired Cleveland police scientific expert, testified that 19 days after Marilyn's death he took a fingerprint from the headboard of the bed on which she was beaten to death in her suburban Bay Village home.

"I found that the fingerprint I found on the headboard was identical with Dr. Samuel Sheppard's left thumbprint," Poelking declared.

He added that smudges of blood behind and atop the headboard were consistent with Sheppard having placed his left hand along the top at some time within the previous three or four weeks.

The state contended at Sheppard's first trial 12 years ago that he beat his wife to death on the bed during a quarrel over another woman. Convicted then, he served nine years in prison before the U.S. Supreme Court last spring ordered a new trial.

Defense's Contention

The defense contends the killer was an intruder, who may have been known to Marilyn.

Sgt. Henry Dombrowski of the Cleveland Police Scientific Investigation Unit testified he found more than 90 drops of blood in the Sheppard home July 23 and July 26, 1954 — not counting those in the murder room. He said it was only at that late date that Cleveland police officially entered the investigation, although officers had performed "courtesy" services immediately after the slaying in Bay Village.

"How many did you take back to the laboratory?" Defense Attorney F. Lee Bailey asked of the blood spots.

"Two," Dombrowski said.

"How many tested positive for human blood?"

"One," the officer answered.

"Was there any way of telling whose blood it was?"

"No," Dombrowski replied.

"Did you learn that the dog had been bleeding about the house?"

"I did learn that, yes," Dombrowski replied.

'Koko'

In the first trial, the defense attempted to establish that the Sheppard family dog, Koko, a female, could have accounted for the blood spots.

The significance of the spots, as the state has always stressed them, is that they were presumed to have come from Marilyn's blood, dripping from her slayer, or from his weapon, which never has been identified. An intruder, the state has suggested, would seek to escape quickly from the scene of his crime.

Dombrowski said blood was found on an upholstered chair in the den where Sheppard was found slumped by neighbors who answered his first call for aid. One drop, Dombrowski added, was well inside the bedroom of Samuel (Chip) Sheppard, then 7, whom Sheppard said he checked after the slaying.

Electrical Trouble Delays Gemini 12 Unexpectedly

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — With frustrating suddenness, Gemini 12's two eager pilots Tuesday suffered a one-day delay, until Thursday, in an effort to race into space for a bold, four-day voyage 58 times around the world.

Quickly and without warning, trouble struck an electrical system on the mighty Titan 2 rocket tabbed to propel Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. (Buzz) Aldrin Jr. aloft.

The gremlin, traced to the unit feeding power to a secondary automatic pilot system, developed during the last major checkout of the big booster before the final countdown that leads to blastoff.

'Go' Had Gone Out

It interrupted otherwise perfect launch preparations that had gone with practiced smoothness. The green light for "go" had flashed brightly to tracking stations around the world before word of a scrub came shortly after noon.

Technicians troubleshot the problem during the afternoon, clinging to a glimmer of hope they could fix it in time to keep the flight on schedule. They decided, however, they would need another day.

The automatic pilot actually guides the rocket on proper course during the flight into space. The secondary unit, the troubled one, would serve as a supplement, if necessary.

Officials chose to install a new auto-pilot system, plus another gyro package which measures how much the rocket pitches, rolls and veers right or left.

Meanwhile, Lovell and Aldrin relaxed in their modern, carpeted quarters at this rocket port. They took the extra time to cram in a bit more study on plans for the exotic mission, which calls for a speedy chase and link-up with an Agena rocket, followed by three record-breaking excursions outside the spaceship by Aldrin, totaling about five hours.

The astronauts also spent some time in a mock-up version of the Gemini spacecraft, practicing some of the tricky maneuvers they must perform during their stay in space.

Gemini 12 now is scheduled to flash skyward Thursday atop the Titan at 2:54 p.m. CST, 99 minutes after an Atlas drills the Agena target into orbit from a nearby launching pad.

If all goes well, by the time Lovell and Aldrin return to earth, they will have sped over a trail more than 1,600,000 miles long. Splashdown will be Monday afternoon in the Atlantic Ocean.

Eclipse Passed Up

The delay forced officials to cancel an attempt to take man's first pictures of a total solar eclipse from space Saturday. Aldrin was to stand in his seat to snap the photos. However, the eclipse now comes the second, the busiest day of the mission instead of the third.

Full mission success on this, the last two-man flight before the United States begins its three-man Project Apollo flights, depends on the pilots' ability to whip to a rendezvous and link-up with the Agena after three trips around the globe.

Lovell calls Gemini 12 sort of a "catch-all" mission because "we have a spacecraft here that perhaps for some time to come will be the last one that has the capability of doing so many different things."

'Comprehensive'

"So, with this true," he added, "we want to get as much out of it as possible. We have made the flight a comprehensive flight and, we hope, a successful one."

"We're looking for one 'first,' I guess," Aldrin added in an interview. "The 'first' we're looking for is to be the first to successfully complete everything that was scheduled. That's asking a lot."

Aldrin's main job during a two-hour walk in space the third day will be to investigate the fatigue problem that has plagued his strolling predecessors in that strange, weightless world.

Apollo Flight Delayed

Cape Kennedy (UPI) — The U.S. space agency Tuesday said it planned to replace two large fuel tanks in the Apollo spacecraft being prepared for America's first three-man spaceflight.

The operation, to be completed by Dec. 1, was expected to push the launch date for the initial manned Apollo mission into February at the earliest. It was once set for November and more recently December.

All the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) would say was that the tank replacement is not expected to delay the initial manned Apollo mission past the first quarter of 1967.

The decision to replace the tanks was made after two tanks in a similar spacecraft blew up during a pressure test in California. An analysis showed that the failure was caused by the interaction of alcohol, which was used to simulate fuel during the test, with the tank's titanium skin under strain.

When you lock your car doors, you want to make sure they're locked. So do we.

Our engineers call it the passenger-guard door lock. It's on every door—front and rear—of every new Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac. When you push the lock down, the door can't be opened until you pull the lock back up—even if someone should accidentally pull back on a door handle. And we didn't stop with a better lock. We also built you a better door to go with it, including the protection of new safety latches and hinges. From little things like locks, to big things like the GM-developed energy absorbing steering column, safety is one of the ways we've made our General Motors cars even better for '67. And can you think of a better way to make cars better? Neither could we.

Look to the General Motors mark of excellence

South Vietnamese Legislators Rebel

Saigon (UPI)—Members of South Viet Nam's constituent assembly rebelled against the government Tuesday, demanding the country's military rulers not be allowed to tamper with the constitution they are writing.

It was the first open revolt by the 117-member assembly against a government decree stipulating that Chief of State and Chairman of the ruling military directorate, Lt. Gen. Nugyen Van Thieu, has the power to amend the constitution before it becomes law.

At least 20 assembly members attacked the law during three hours of speech-making. The members were elected in South Viet Nam's widely heralded Sept. 11 civilian elections.

Most of Tuesday's speakers charged that Thieu had no right to meddle with the constitution since he is not an elected official. They referred to the law as "undemocratic."

Two-Thirds Vote

It would take a two-thirds majority vote of the 117 assembly members to overrule an amendment by Thieu.

One speaker proposed that the assembly resign in protest against the law. Others suggested meeting with representatives of Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, and another assembly member suggested by the government edict be ignored.

"If we do not speak up on this issue we will lose the confidence of the people," said assembly member Dr. Phan Quang Dan.

"We have the right to differ with the government . . . we must safeguard our right to create a constitution."

More debate on the potentially explosive issue was expected Wednesday.

N. Viet Nam Insists Upon Military Solution

Tokyo (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam, professing no interest in either the results of the U.S. elections or President Johnson's peace offers, served notice Tuesday it would continue to seek a battlefield decision.

Viet Cong leaders, quoted by Hanoi's Viet Nam News Agency, also repeated the vow "to fight to the end even if it takes five or 10 years or more and even if the U.S. increases its aggressor army to 400,000, 500,000 or more."

"Whether the Republican or the Democratic Party wins in the congressional elections in the United States it can in no way change the aggressive and war-seeking nature of U.S. imperialism," said a commentary of the communist "Voice of Viet Nam" quoted by the agency.

Referring to anti-war opinion of some elements in the United States, it said "the Vietnamese people (meaning the Viet Cong and their backers) highly value the support given them by the world people, including the American people."

"But they have always held that the decisive factor for victory lies in their own strength," it said.

"They are resolved to defeat and, in fact, are defeating the American aggressor troops on the battlefield.

"This is the decisive factor which will lead to the conclusion of the U.S. war of aggression in Viet Nam."

Father Fills In

Worthington, Mass. (AP) — A substitute town clerk supervised voting. The regular clerk, Mrs. Winston Donovan, gave birth to a son Tuesday morning.

Her post was filled by her father, Kenneth Osgood, who served as town clerk before she got the job.

STORY AT RIGHT

WILLIAM B. CAMP

LBJ Picks Camp As Comptroller

Johnson City, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson voted early Tuesday, whizzed visitors about his ranch and signed bills dealing with such varied subjects as crime, inflation, pro football, poverty, farms and the price of shoes.

And he let it be known also that he will name William B. Camp to be comptroller of the currency when the term of the controversial James J. Saxon expires Nov. 15.

As is his custom, Johnson sought to be among the first voters at his polling place here and through a mixup arrived 49 minutes before the scheduled opening time. But the election officials opened up early and let him cast his ballot without a wait.

"I voted the Democratic ticket," the President proclaimed to newsmen.

Camp, 53, is now first deputy comptroller and has worked in the comptroller's office for about 30 years. He accompanied Johnson to the polling place after spending the night at the LBJ ranch.

Saxon, a Chicago bank attorney before President John F. Kennedy named him comptroller, announced some time ago he was not a candidate for another term. His independent course as regulator of the national banks has brought him often into conflict with the Federal Reserve Board and he has been at odds with the Justice Department on bank anti-trust matters.

University Denies Savio's Readmission

Berkeley, Calif. (UPI— Mario Savio, fiery leader of the Berkeley "Free Speech" sit-ins, Tuesday was denied readmission to the University of California.

The question of his readmission had been the subject of bitter comment by political figures during the California election campaign.

State Superintendent of Education Max Rafferty recently said the University regents should be examined by psychiatrists if Savio, 23, were permitted to return as a student.

Savio's turn-down resulted from his dramatic reappearance on campus Friday, after a long period of self-imposed seclusion, to orate against a proposal to change the site of almost daily political rallies.

It has been proposed to change the site from the foot of Sproul Hall, scene of the 1964 sit-in that resulted in 763 arrests, because the loud speakers disturb persons in nearby administrative offices. The new site would be in a location opposed by many because it is away from the flow of students.

Savio said his appearance was a symbolic act protesting school policies "more befitting a prison than a university."

When Mrs. John T. McGreer, Jr., entertained at luncheon at her home Monday afternoon her guests were the members of the Lancaster County Medical Auxiliary and Mrs. Fay Smith of Omaha, state auxiliary president.

Mrs. Smith, who was making her official visit to the Lincoln group, spoke on auxiliary plans and projects for the year, and reported on the recent national meeting of state medical auxiliary presidents held in Chicago.

Mrs. Leonard Lee and Mrs. Wesley Tomhave were co-chairman of the hostess committee.

We Hear That

His paternal grandparents are Mrs. Priscilla Grosshans and Max H. Grosshans of Collinsville, Okla. The newcomer also has doting great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Eiche of Roca, and Mrs. Mary S. Gray.

NEWS
of suburban areas

Political forecasting and some weather forecasting seem to have made the news lately, but for suburbia the weekend prediction is for visitors and home comers.

COTNER TERRACE

A family of former Cotner Terrace residents is back in Lincoln this week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rodzielski at 5711 Judson.

T.Sgt and Mrs. William Schaffnausen and their youngsters, Billy and Debby, have stopped to visit with Mrs. Shaffnausen's parents en route to their new assignment, Robins AFB at Macon, Ga. For the last two and one-half years the Shaffhausen family has been stationed in Hawaii.

It might be a little early for most residents to start thinking of Thanksgiving, but at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Stauffer dinner plans are already underway—and with 16 guests arriving in addition to the Stauffer foursome, plans are indeed necessary.

Houseguests during the holiday include Mrs. Stauffer's parents and brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Max Cook, all of Culbertson; and two additional brothers and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook of Englewood, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cook of Kearney.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Settling down in their new neighborhood are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cheney. Not new to Lincoln, however, the Cheneys made the move from their former residence at 2108 So. 48th to their present address at 2221 So. 37th, on Oct. 29.

Here is the story of these furs: Furriers from time to time, get "stuck" with furs unclaimed from storage. Pachman Furs has a large group of furs which will go at fantastic prices in the Lincoln area. Also many NEW one-of-a-kind furs from regular stock will go at very low prices. Imagine buying a nearly new fur stole for only $15.00 and up and fur collars from $5.00 to $10.00. Many of these furs are expensive furs and are being sold at ridiculous prices. These furs really look NEW but must be labeled "second-hand used." If you want to buy a "good" $15.00 and up bargain in a fur you'd better come early. Fur products labeled to show country of origin of imported furs. Fur Coats, Jackets, Scarfs and Stoles will go at low, low prices. A deposit will hold your layaway. Furs on sale for limited time, open from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. Pachman Furs, 1026 "O", Phone 432-1912. Layaways Invited. Open Thurs. night.

End Dry Skin

Wrinkles form in colder weather because skin contracts, making it difficult for the tiny oil ducts to feed the surface skin. Avoid winter-dry skin by smoothing oil of Olay over the face and neck daily before making-up. This oil, available from your druggist, gives the complexion a lovely peaches-and-cream bloom and is the finest protection against wrinkle dryness.

. . . Margaret Merril.

New Club

Mothers of collegiate members of Beta Sigma Psi fraternity at the University of Nebraska met recently at the chapter house to organize a Mothers Club.

Mrs. Art Hellbusch of Columbus, was elected president of the group, and other officers named were Mrs. Kenneth Hayford of Omaha, vice president; Mrs. Perry Miller, secretary; and Mrs. Dearle Schatz, treasurer.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party to be held Dec. 13, at the chapter house.

ABBY

parents can be unrealistic

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am nearly 17, a senior in high school and a straight "A" student. I went to a drive-in movie with the same boy three Saturday nights in a row. Each time I was home at the time my parents set for me—12:30. After the third date they calmly told me I couldn't go to the drive-in with this boy any more. Their only reason was they thought I might do something I might regret.

When they told me this I cried all night. In the past you have always told kids if they listened to their parents and obeyed their rules, trust would come. Well, I've been doing it for nearly 17 years and you can see where it got me. Don't you think my parents are being unreasonable?

NOT TRUSTED

DEAR NOT: Yes, but worse yet they are being unrealistic. Were you bent on doing something you might regret, denying you permission to go to a drive-in movie with a boy wouldn't stop you.

Teen-agers who have demonstrated good judgment, integrity, and respect for their parents' rules should be rewarded by being given added privileges. They've earned it. In the meantime, do as you are told, and I think eventually your parents might see the error in their decision.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law asked my husband to give her the money he was going to spend on my birthday present and "together" they bought me something SHE picked out. A fire engine red wool coat with a low belt all the way 'round. I am 5 feet 3 inches tall and weigh 155. She has excellent taste when it comes to selecting her own clothes. What would you say happened in this case, and how would you handle it?

BOILING OVER

DEAR BOILING: There are two possibilities. She either did it on purpose or she didn't. But regardless, I would handle it very carefully while placing it in its original box to return it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FASHION - CONSCIOUS": A lady's dress should be like a stamped barbed wire fence. It should protect the property without obscuring the view.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, inclose a self-addressed, envelope.

Opening lead — king of spades.

Here is a fine hand played in a team of four match. At both tables the contract was five diamonds, but at one table the contract was made, while at the other it was defeated.

At the first table, West led the king of spades. Declarer ruffed in dummy with the jack and then played the king of diamonds. East took the king with the ace and returned a trump.

Declarer won the return in his hand and ruffed a spade. Then, in an effort to come back to his hand to draw East's remaining trump, declarer played the A-K of clubs, planning to ruff the third club to get to his hand.

Unfortunately, East ruffed the king of clubs and South went down one when he later attempted a heart finesse.

The play started the same way at the second table. Declarer ruffed the spade lead high in dummy and led the king of diamonds, East taking it with the ace and returning a trump.

At this table, also, declarer ruffed a spade in dummy and cashed the ace of clubs—but then came a parting of the ways.

The declarer at this table realized he would be running an unnecessary risk by continuing with the king of clubs since it was distinctly possible that East might ruff it. Accordingly, he led a low club from dummy at this point and was rewarded for his exceptionally cautious play when East showed out and West won the trick with the six.

West did as well as he could when he returned the queen of clubs, but it availed him naught. Declarer played low from dummy, ruffed the queen, drew East's last trump and was then able to discard his heart loser on the king of clubs to bring home eleven tricks.

Splendid fall weather around here. A young girl about 12 years old — (they call them teeny-boppers) — knocked on the door the other twilight evening.

She asked "Can I borrow your hose?"

I said: "Sure. But why?"

She said: "That boy, George, is chasing me with a water balloon."

I said: "Soak him." She did. (George, I gather, is the apple of her eye. The feeling is mutual.)

With such stirrings of love all around us, how can this be? The Oregon Fair Commission voted to remove the Tunnel of Love from the state fair midway.

"There's just not much demand for that sort of thing anymore," they said.

What's going on, dear friends? When the Tunnel of Love is not in demand. When I was tunneling for love, we couldn't have got along without that dark tunnel ride. Afloat on a river of romance.

Well, sir, in Edinburgh, Scotland, it was a braw, bricht, moonlicht night. The driver-conductor team of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Black clocked their doubledeck, municipal bus into the garage.

Mrs. Black, 31, checked out her last passenger and immediately took on a new one — her own, new 5-pound, 10-ounce bouncing baby boy.

"I was stunnned," said father Bill. "Vera never said a word to me."

Arturo Tovar of Mexico City is 22. He will be somewhat older when they let him out of stony-lonesome.

The police say Arturo has 12 wives — not bad for a lad.

Arturo explained it as modestly as possible. "I'm irresistible."

Science is bugging those poor rats again. I never pick up a paper but what some scientist is giving rats the hot foot. Or a neurosis. Or some form of trouble.

Anyway, this time the Department of Agriculture put rats on a diet. Same diet as an American family — it says.

Some rats were given as much as they wanted.

And others were cut to 60% of that amount.

So what happened? The rats on the short diet ran on their exercise wheels both day and night. The ones living high on the hog only exercised at night.

The department is now thinking that the less you eat, the more you work.

Thus knocking into a cocked hat the things we've been taught about "hearty breakfasts" and "balanced diets."

This is a terrible way to treat a rat. And even worse way to treat a reader. (Like they teach you for years to brush up and down. And then they say no, it should be sideways. Meantime, you've ruined yourself.)

☆ ☆ ☆

The motivation people are hard at it, too. These are the researchers who figure out that you like cars with big tail fins because it gives you a finny security. (Or you're some kind of nut.)

They looked into the family scatter. They said:

"It is more than four walls and a roof. It is a retreat, safety, security. Almost like a member of the family."

In a lifetime of trying to tame moppets and mortages, I figure you approach both like a lion tamer. A whip in one hand and a kitchen chair in the other.

The goal is "to burn the mortgage" — the glorious day when it's all paid off. If you're just starting, you might think of it this way: Take out a little insurance. Burn the house.

Anti-Crime Bills Get LBJ Stamp

Johnson City, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson Tuesday signed into law three anti-crime measures, including one which would allow medical treatment rather than imprisonment for drug addicts.

Shortly after putting his signature on the bills, at his Texas ranch, with Acting Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark standing by, Johnson issued a statement in which he said the legislation would help provide "effective action" for the war on crime. The bills are:

—The narcotics addict rehabilitation act, which would allow for treatment rather than imprisonment of drug addicts. Calling this "a pioneering measure," the President said it "recognizes that treating addicts as criminals neither curtails addiction or prevents crime."

—A measure establishing a 12-member bipartisan national commission "to recommend complete revision of the federal criminal statutes. The President said, "Some of our criminal laws are obsolete," while others "do not make the penalty fit the crime," and should be reviewed to meet modern standards.

—An extension to 1970 of the program set up under the law enforcement assistance act of 1965, for federal grants to help local agencies and other groups in improving police methods.

"These measures flow from the recommendations I made in my message to Congress on crime earlier this year," the President said.

"Separately, each bill is important. Together, they form a vital part of our national effort to bring new dimensions to law enforcement and the administration of justice."

Mysterious NATO Case Unexplained

Frankfurt, Germany (UPI) — Federal Security police Tuesday confirmed a suitcase found floating in the Main river contained classified North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) documents.

The documents, which apparently were entrusted to a Turkish army officer, were a report on the recent NATO maneuver "Fallex 66" according to unconfirmed reports.

"Fallex 66" was carried out by several West German cabinet ministers who met in a remote hideout to test ways of drafting emergency legislation in case of enemy attack.

The suitcase, police said, was left at the main Frankfurt railway station by a Turkish officer on Oct. 26 or 27. On Oct. 28, another person picked up the luggage and the suitcase was found floating in the Main a day later, sources said.

Police speculated the officer had been kidnaped or murdered as the result of an espionage entanglement. A Turkish army uniform and underwear was found in the suitcase along with the documents, sources said.

But according to other reports the officer was reported back at his home in Turkey.

Reds' Tay Ninh Dead Now 758

Saigon (AP) — U.S. infantrymen hurled back another communist attack in Tay Ninh province Tuesday and the official count of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead there in six days of sporadic battle soared to 758. It was a four-hour fight.

Though again denied the significant victory by which they obviously hoped to influence voting trends in the American election, the Viet Cong scored in two raids in other sectors:

—A U.S. spokesman said a guerrilla detachment moved into a Mekong Delta village 75 miles southwest of Saigon before dawn Monday and kidnaped the entire population of 90 to 110 persons.

Why?

Sheer terrorism? A gunpoint draft of recruits and laborers? A warning against government sympathies among the rice-growing peasants? There was no immediate explanation.

—Ten guerrillas disguised as Vietnamese government troops raided Hoc Man, 11 miles northwest of Saigon, before dawn. The Vietnamese command said the raiders killed nine civilians, wounded eight and inflicted light casualties on the militia garrison.

U.S. pilots hammered at communist targets both north and south of the 17th Parallel Monday. They flew 507 sorties in South Viet Nam and 140 multiplane missions over the North. The fliers said 45 North Vietnamese cargo barges and three antiaircraft sites were among targets destroyed.

B52s Hit Tay Ninh

U.S. B52 jets from Guam staged another saturation bombing of Red holdings in Tay Ninh province jungles as American officers reported 302 counted dead from an enemy force of 1,000 men, including some North Vietnamese, which struck at dawn at the 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry, U.S. 1st Infantry Division.

Airborne psychological warfare crews cruised over that sector on the Cambodian frontier northwest of Saigon calling on communist survivors to surrender.

Associated Press correspondent John Lengel reported from the battlefield that American officers estimated the infantry fire, plus about 2,000 artillery shells and jet bombing and napalming of Red positions, killed 500 of the enemy. Captured weapons included three rocket launchers and seven machine guns.

3 Squads Battered

American losses were officially described as light. Lengel reported, however, that three squads of a single platoon were hit hard and that the dead included a U.S. company commander.

About 10,000 men of the 1st and 25th Infantry Divisions knd the 196th Light Infantry Brigade are engaged in Operation Attleboro 2. It was launched Oct. 15 with the aim of knocking out the Viet Cong's 9th Division, estimated to total 6,000 men. Heavy action started last Thursday. Contact was largely lost Monday.

Across country, units of the 101st Airborne and 4th Infantry Division reported uncovering three enemy base camps, some equipped with fortified bunkers, in Phy Yen province 230 miles northeast of Saigon. The enemy troops had fled.

Farther north, troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division closed with a communist detachment in a five-hour fight Monday. The troopers said they killed 42 of the enemy, pushing the toll in Operation Thayer to 236 killed since Oct. 25.

Peace Corps Kicked Out By Guinea's Boss Toure

Washington (AP) — President Sekou Toure of Guinea has ordered the expulsion of American Peace Corps volunteers from his country, the U.S. Embassy in Conakry reported Tuesday.

The State Department, which received the preliminary report from the embassy, said it was withdrawing the volunteers from Guinea.

President Toure apparently announced the expulsion order in a speech in Conakry Stadium, administration officials said.

A Peace Corps spokesman said headquarters had not received an official communique on the expulsion orders but had learned about it on Radio Conakry.

"If we are officially asked to leave by the head of a state, we will leave," the spokesman said. "We consider ourselves guests in any country and will not stay if we are not wanted."

Within Week

He said if the volunteers had followed instructions, it would not be difficult to contact them. If the report is true, he said, the volunteers would leave the country within a week.

"As soon as we get official word, we'll start contacting the volunteers as quickly as we can."

The expulsion order came as a surprise. The State Department had indicated Monday that all harassment of Americans in the Guinea capital had ceased and that restrictions imposed on Americans had been lifted.

The United States had been caught in the middle of a dispute between Guinea and Ghana. Guinea had sought, through pressure on the United States, to obtain release of a number of diplomats removed from a U.S. plane in Ghana.

14 Volunteers

There are 14 Peace Corps volunteers in 24 towns and villages in Guinea, working primarily in the field of agriculture and English training. In addition there are eight Peace Corps staff members and dependents in that country.

SAFETY URGED

Auto safety crusader Ralph Nader says the auto industry could market for general use within six years a car that would protect passengers from serious injury in crashes at speeds up to 50 miles an hour. "Such a car could eliminate 70% of all traffic deaths even without eliminating a single accident," said the 32-year-old author.

Sidney Trucker Burns To Death In Bridge Crash

Atwood, Colo. (UPI) — A Sidney, Neb., truck driver burned to death Tuesday when his truck went off a bridge four miles west of here on Interstate 80 in northeastern Colorado.

His death raised Colorado's highway fatality toll to 515, compared to 446 on the same date in 1965.

The State Patrol identified the man as Glen O. Lieding, 35.

The patrol said his oil tanker truck went out of control and drove off a bridge about 4:10 a.m. MST. It burst into flames, killing Lieding.

An estimated $40,000 damage was done to the truck tractor.

Retired Doctor, Wife, Mother Die In Murder-Suicide Plot

Menlo Park, Calif. (AP) — "We're all dead inside. Enter through the side entrance," read a note found by a nurse on the front door of Lt. Col. Robert H. Finley's home.

Inside police found the bodies of Finley, 50; his wife, Marion, also 50, and his mother, Mrs. Irene Finley, 70, all shot through the heart with a 12-gauge shotgun.

Police Chief George Potter said it was a murder-suicide plot.

Neighbors told patrolmen both women had been sick and that Finley's wife attempted suicide a year ago.

The mother arrived for a visit two weeks ago from Omaha and the nurse, Kleetis Kerr of Menlo Park, had come to care for her. Finley was a retired Air Force doctor.

A note near Finley's body read: "Forgive us for bringing notoriety to our nice little neighborhood. There was no rancor or ill-feeling. We are simply three unhappy people and have had enough. We wanted it this way. Thanks for many kindnesses."

Iowan Sentenced On Check Charge

He was quoted as saying he bilked an Omaha bank by putting nickels between quarters, rolled the coins in wrappers and received from the bank $108 in cash for $60 in coins.

Hamilton Announces He's 'Ready To Go'

Munich, Germany (UPI)—Actor George Hamilton, frequent escort of President Johnson's daughter Lynda Bird, took his pre-induction Army physical Tuesday and declared he's ready to go to Viet Nam as an infantryman.

"It's my duty," the 27-year-old matinee idol told reporters at the Army's McGraw Barracks here. "If my country needs me, I'll even go to Viet Nam."

Hamilton had been classified 3-A in the Selective Service pool because he is the sole support of his mother. He and about 70,000 other draft-eligible men recently were sent reclassification orders.

The actor was allowed to take his physical in Munich because it would have imposed a hardship on the company of his latest movie, "Jack of Diamonds," if Hamilton had to return to New York City for the examination.

Would Accept

Asked what branch of the service he preferred, Hamilton declared he expected to be drafted as an infantryman. "I don't mind walking," he added. He said he would not hesitate to accept induction.

Hamilton declined to answer questions about his relationship with the President's 22-year-old daughter. He would not confirm even that he has kept in touch with her since beginning work on the movie here recently.

The actor told reporters he did not want to be taken into the Army as a celebrity and be placed in Special Services, as is usually the case with entertainers. He said he would prefer to go as an ordinary citizen who has an obligation to his country and become a foot soldier.

Army spokesmen declined to speculate on just what Hamilton's fate would be if he is drafted.

Asked how he came out in his mental tests, Hamilton grinned:

Russia Warns Treaty Must Restrict Germans

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union warned Tuesday against undue optimism for reaching agreement on a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons. It said what is lacking are concrete U.S. measures for keeping nuclear weapons out of West German hands.

A. A. Roschin, the chief Soviet disarmament negotiator, told the assembly's main political committee that the United States must make clear whether it "intends to yield to the demands of the military circles of West Germany" for nuclear weapons.

"This is the crux of the matter," he added. "Therein lies the key to the solution of the nonproliferation of nuclear weapons . . ."

He said the Soviet Union was encouraged by U.S. statements expressing "a true wish" to reach agreement on a treaty, but that "what is needed now is for these official statements to be backed up by concrete and practical measures."

The committee is debating a resolution urging the 17-nation Disarmament Committee in Geneva to give priority to a treaty when it resumes its work after the first of the year, and setting out U.N. guidelines for a treaty.

Roschin said the Soviet Union was willing to discuss safeguards set up by the International Atomic Energy Agency, a U.N. affiliate, for preventing use of peaceful nuclear installations for production of weapons.

Poland and Czechoslovakia have expressed willingness to accept such controls if West Germany does likewise.

Dr. Chaloupka Dies; Former Local Dentist

Dr. Adelmer "Bill" Chaloupka, a retired Lincoln dentist, died here Tuesday. Chaloupka was born in Wilber in 1892.

He graduated from Wilber High School in 1911 and from the University of Nebraska college of Dentistry in 1917.

Dr. Chaloupka was a veteran of World War I. He practiced dentistry in Lincoln for 39 years until his retirement in 1956.

He was a member of the American Dental Association and the Nebraska State Dental Association.

Dr. Chaloupka is survived by his wife, Beulah; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Gordon of Lincoln; a grandson, Thomas Gordon of Lincoln; a granddaughter, Mrs. Richard (Mimi) Sloan of Dallas, Texas; and three great-grandchildren.

More Local Social Security Checks Sent Than Expected

Over 20% more elderly persons than forecast are receiving the new special monthly Social Security payments for persons 72 years and older from the Lincoln Social Security office district manager A. F. Silber reported Tuesday.

This is comparable to national figures showing payments to over 20% more elderly persons than estimated, the district manager said.

The Lincoln office is sending the special payments to 2,000 men and women in the 17-county area. About 4,500 are receiving the extra Social Security checks throughout the state.

Some 580,000 persons 72 years and older in all states will be receiving checks in November, compared to the 270,000 it was predicted would be eligible when Congress voted the benefit last spring.

Nationally the checks total about $20 million with the maximum payment $35 monthly for an individual or $52.50 for a married couple who do not qualify for the regular Social Security benefits, according to the administration.

However, payments received under any government retirement benefit programs make many oldsters ineligible.

About 350 persons who applied to the Lincoln office were receiving welfare payments and another 500 receive other government pensions or annuities, making them ineligible for the extra funds, Silber said.

The checks take into account the payments of those who signed up for the doctor bill insurance coverage under Medicare and paid the $9 premium for the quarter beginning Oct. 1.

Those eligible for the $35 maximum will receive checks for $38, with $3 being a refund of their advance Medicare premium for December. The check for December and in future months will be $32 because the $3 monthly Medicare premium will be deducted automatically.

Camera-Shy Truman Votes In Missouri

Independence, Mo. (AP)—Harry S. Truman, unusually camera-shy, voted Tuesday at a polling place a block from his home. Mrs. Truman accompanied him.

The former president, who has left his home only a few times since an abdominal illness caused him to be hospitalized for six days this summer, was driven to the World War I Memorial Building.

Lt. Mike Westwood, an Independence policeman who acts as his driver, refused to allow photographers to make pictures. A Secret Service agent also was with Truman.

Livestock Value To Increase For Taxing Purposes

State Tax Commissioner George Dworak reported Tuesday the value of livestock for tax purposes will be increased for the 1967 tax year.

He said the higher values, requiring the payment of more taxes for each head, were based on the average sale prices of each class of livestock at the Omaha markets for a 12-month period in accordance with a 1961 law.

The tax commissioner noted that stock cattle, the largest single element of taxable livestock in Nebraska, will increase in value from $110 to $125 per head and most other classes will jump in value by at least $5 per head.

County's Bid For Railroad Signals OKd

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday were informed by the state that the county's request last December for installation of two warning signals at railroad crossings in the county is being granted.

The letter stated that the automatic warning signals at the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad crossings on So. 56th south of State Highway 2 and on the cutoff road between Highway 77 and 2 west of Highway 2 are in line for construction.

All the necessary preliminary work, agreements of plans, estimates and funds have been approved, the letter said.

In other business, the board received notification that the appraising firm, J. M. Clem-inshaw Co. of Cleveland, Ohio, will appear before the board Nov. 15 to present their offerings for a reappraisal of Lancaster County.

2 Men Sentenced On Criminal And Burglary Counts

Two men were sentenced to 10 years each in the Nebraska Penal Complex Tuesday on charges of burglary and habitual criminal.

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele sentenced Henry Reichel, of 1207 Charleston, and Virgil D. Riley, of 226 No. 26th, who had each pleaded innocent and were found guilty of the burglary by a Lancaster District Court jury Sept. 30.

Judge Scheele also found the pair, who were specifically charged with breaking and entering the Northwestern Metal Co. July 10, guilty of the habitual criminal charges.

A third man, Rex L. Fusby, of 1122 Sumner, also charged with burglary in connection with the incident, was acquitted by the same jury which convicted Reichel and Riley.

According to authorities, $31.78 was taken from a soda pop machine at Northwestern Metal and two vaults were damaged but not opened.

Voter Rewarded In Novel Way

Los Angeles (UPI) — To spur voter turnout in California's general election Tuesday, the original Follies Burlesque Theater on Main Street here offered free admission to anyone showing a voter's ballot stub.

Bob Biggs reported that 67 customers showed up for the noon show with proof they voted early.

Fire Damages Building At NU

A fire in a University of Nebraska building early Tuesday morning caused considerable damage to three rooms, according to the Lincoln Fire Department.

Fire Department officials said that the flames spread through three third-floor rooms of the Social Sciences building at 12th and R, causing heavy damage. The cause of the blaze and the amount of damages were being investigated.

Orbiter 2 Put Back On Trail

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — A short burst from a steering rocket sped Lunar Orbiter 2 on toward the moon Tuesday on a quartermillion-mile flight to take close-up pictures of potential astronaut landing sites.

The 47-mile-an-hour kick from the rocket motor was designed to correct a slight error in aiming when the 850-pound space camera was launched toward lunar orbit from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Monday.

Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory here said it would have missed the aiming point by 2,700 miles without a course correction.

Several hours of tracking will be required to plot the spacecraft's new course precisely, a spokesman said and results may be announced Wednesday.

If all goes well the camera-carrying vehicle should go into orbit around the moon Thursday and begin taking pictures Nov. 18 showing terrain details as small as three feet across.

Luna Orbiter 1, launched last August, sent back more than 200 photographs, but some of them were blurred. Orbiter 2 has been modified in hopes it will provide the best pictures yet of areas in which U.S. explorers are to land the end of the decade.

Liquor Tax And Fee Receipts Off

The State Liquor Control Commission Tuesday reported October receipts totaling $414,963 in taxes and fees, a decrease of $46,800 from October, 1965.

However, 1966 revenue for the first 10 months totaled $4,548,047, an increase of $164,583 over the comparable period for last year.

October tax receipts on spiritous liquors amounted to $231,210 compared with $270,598 a year ago. On the beer, $156,670 campared with $163,348 a year ago.

Twelve pages of wholesome colored comics, feature stories with plenty of pictures and the big entertainment section are a few reasons why nearly everyone reads the "Sunday Journal and Star."

The one thing no other life insurance company can offer your family...

...is a Mass Mutual agent.

There are, let's face it, a number of fine life insurance companies. Quite a few of them can offer you highly flexible policies.

But it's the differences among them that should determine your choice. And probably the biggest difference lies in the ability of the agents. They're the people who can help you plan one of the most important programs you'll ever undertake.

How do Mass Mutual men measure up? Here are the solid facts on Mass Mutual agents compared with the industry average. Four times as many have achieved the Chartered Life Underwriter designation...five times as many have earned the National Quality Award...nine times as many are members of the Million Dollar Round Table.

Aren't these the kind of men you'd like to talk with about your family's future, your children's schooling, your own retirement—or your company's business life insurance needs?

Their outstanding record speaks for itself. It shows that Mass Mutual men are an elite corps of skilled professionals.

Support For Huskers

While ballots were being cast Tuesday in voting booths across Nebraska, the mail man delivered a few votes for the Husker football team in answer to those critics, who are grumbling, "What's wrong with the Huskers?"

We'll start with Johnny Jay of 1435 B in Lincoln, who says, "I'm not in the greeting card business, but would like each and all good Nebraska fans to send a THANK YOU card to Bob Devaney and his troupe for a job well done prior to Saturday's game with OSU.

"The only grumblers hereabouts are Nebraska transplants who wouldn't really like anything wherever they are. For fine sportsmanship, pure unadulterated football entertainment and thrills, I'd like to know where you can top any Saturday the Huskers play?

"A national ranking puts any team in the position of having to play King of the Hill each week. So far, so good.

Eastern sports writers refer to Memorial Stadium as 'The Meat Grinder.' That mass of rabid red fans can't help but jog even the most poised opponent on occasion. Let's make this Saturday a real appreciation day—not only to our fine seniors who'll be leaving but to the entire athletic entourage for a job well done.

"Thanks to you too for your excellent coverage of a very interesting season—far from over."

COMMENT: Mr. Jay is in a card-sending mood, adding a P.S. that he sent a get-well card to KU coach Jack Mitchell. His letter and his idea of sending thank you cards to Devaney and squad are excellent. Send your cards to Nebraska Football Team, NU Fieldhouse, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.

Proud Husker Fan

A reader in Orleans, who prefers to be identified as a "proud Husker fan" says, "I have read from time to time your comments for people who write in to comment on your column and headline stories—usually with pleasure.

"After the last three weeks, I have become itchy and irritated by the comments heard here and about concerning the current (NU) football team. It has raised my ire to the boiling point.

"It appears that we must literally 'blow 'em out of the stadium' to satisfy some of the fans. Too well do I remember the lean years to complain now. In fact it seems the news media often attempt to play the game long before the actual conflict is slated. Then if the result is not in line with the prediction, we tend to complain, ridicule and expound on the result.

"I say NU has nothing to be ashamed of at 8-0. I would like to see it 10-0 or even 11-0. Then start all over again in 1967.

"My hat is off to Bob Zenner for his blast of the doubters—grumblers—gamblers. In my book they say if you can't beat 'em, join 'em! So why complain, why not thank the coaches and team members who do combat each week so that some fat bird may gloat, brag and bet a wad while stuffing himself in the lap of luxury.

"Thank them for their past efforts and future records. These fellows have established some records Nebraskans may not see equalled for some time to come."

COMMENT—It is unfortunate that some fans have such short memories that they can't remember only 10 years ago when the Huskers were 1-9.

Matter Of Greatness

"As a former Star sports reporter of sorts I can't resist editorializing a bit on the question of Nebraska's greatness," writes Jerry Mapes of Lincoln. "It seems goofy that in three weeks time, Nebraska can go from 'not great' (Nebraska 21, Colorado 19) to 'great' (Nebraska 35, Missouri 0) and back again to 'not great' (Nebraska 24, Kansas 13).

"I wonder how Dan Devine and Jack Mitchell can differ so widely on what constitutes a 'great team'? Do you suppose it has anything at all to do with whose team gets whipped and by how much?

"Purdue must be convinced that Michigan State is a great team (Michigan State 41, Purdue 20), but I wonder if Ohio State agrees (Michigan State 11, Ohio State 8)? Pittsburgh is a firm believer in the UCLA power and greatness (UCLA 57, Pitt 14), but Washington seems to be dragging its feet on seconding the motion (Washington 16, UCLA 3).

"We could carry this out to ridiculous extremes but it would suffice to say that 'great or not great,' it's pretty hard to knock eight wins."

COMMENT — The fans who have expressed their opinions above are showing a great deal more sense and knowledge of football than those who ask, "What's wrong with the Huskers?"

—STITH MAY PLAY—

No Word Yet On NU Injured

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Three players remained on the doubtful list Tuesday for Nebraska in its upcoming game against Oklahoma State Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

Defensive tackle Carel Stith, offensive halfback Ron Kirkland and offensive end Dennis Richnafsky are all still doubtful performers against the Cowboys, but NU coach Bob Devaney maintained hopes that all three would be available.

Stith, who suffered an ankle injury in the win over Kansas Saturday, missed a second straight day of practice Tuesday, but trainers gave Devaney hope that the Lincoln veteran would be ready.

"The trainers say he appears to be coming along better than they had thought he would," Devaney said. "We should be able to tell by Wednesday night about him."

The Husker coach also indicated that Kirkland and Richnafsky would not be starters even if they are ready.

"We sort of have a rule that players must win their jobs back," Devaney explained.

Playing at home also gives NU coaches more time to make decisions on the injured players.

"Since we are playing at home this week, we don't have to make any decision until Saturday," Devaney said in discussing the sidelined Huskers. "If we were playing on the road, that would mean we'd have to decide by Thursday night because of the travel limitations."

Buffs' Fairband Top Big 8 Lineman

By Associated Press

Colorado defensive end Bill Fairband made two touchdown-saving plays and wrecked all Missouri attempts to turn his end to become a unanimous choice as Big Eight Lineman of the Week.

Fairband was a 9.8 sprinter in high school and an offensive specialist his first two years at Colorado before making an amazingly successful switch to defense when talented Ray LeMasters was hurt and lost for the season early in 1965. Now he's considered one of the league's best.

The 6-foot-2, 218-pound senior from Los Gatos, Calif., apparently was never really meant to be a pass receiver. He's always had trouble hanging on to the ball. His fraternity brothers called him "Board Fingers."

His blocking was eye-catching, but he muffed passes in the end zone. On defense, this apparently is his only weakness. Twice he has dropped interceptions with a clear field to a touchdown.

Fairband is an outstanding tackler and pass deflecter, as Missouri can tell you. He made probably the two biggest plays of the game.

Colorado lost a fumble on its first play of the game at its own 37. Missouri quickly moved to a third-and-six at the Colorado 20. Dan Sharpe rolled out to pass, Ray Thorpe was wide open at the goal line, but Fairband knocked it down. Missouri then missed a field goal attempt.

In the second period he spoiled a Tiger drive by going through a blocker to drop Earl Denny for a 5-yard loss. In the third period, an aroused Missouri club stormed 73 yards to a fourth-and-one at Colorado 3-yard line, Denny took a pitchout, but Fairband stripped off the blockers and teamed with Ike Howard to get Denny for a one-yard loss, ending the drive.

Other nominees were Larry Dercher, Kansas tackle, with six tackles and an outstanding job of stripping blockers; Danny Lankas, K-State linebacker with 20 tackles and high praise from Oklahoma players; tackle Lee Mungai of Missouri, eight tackles and two fumble recoveries; tackle John Titsworth of Oklahoma, eight tackles and good pass rush and pursuit; linebacker Lynn Senkbeil of Nebraska, 15 tackles and one of his best games; and end Jerry Philpott of Oklahoma State, 5 passes caught for 55 yards and a good all-around game.

F. ROBINSON SELECTED

Oriole Slugger Most Valuable

. . . IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

FRANK ROBINSON . . . AL's Most Valuable with son.

Associated Press Sports Writer

New York (AP) — Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles unanimously was voted the American League's Most Valuable Player Tuesday, becoming the first player in baseball history to win the coveted award in both leagues.

In the 35-year history of the award, no other player has been able to achieve MVP distinction in both the American and National leagues.

But Robinson, who won the NL version with Cincinnati in 1961, accomplished the feat by gaining the 1966 AL award without dissent from the 20 voting members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

In winning the award, the 31-year-old outfielder led a 1-2-3 Baltimore sweep of the top places, drawing a maximum 280 points to 153 for third baseman Brooks Robinson and 122 for first baseman Boog Powell.

Points were on a basis of 14 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third down to 1 point for 10th.

Frank Robinson, who won the American League Triple Crown of batting while leading the Orioles to the pennant and a four-game sweep of the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series, is only the third AL player to win the award unanimously and the first in a decade.

Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians won it without dissent in 1953 and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was a unanimous winner in 1956. The 1-2-3 sweep also is not without precedent, having been accomplished in 1959 by Nellie Fox, Luis Aparicio and Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox.

Aparicio, like Robinson acquired by the Orioles in a trade, finished ninth in this year's voting. Reliever Stu Miller and catcher Andy Etchebarren also picked up votes on the Orioles.

The Minnesota Twins took the three spots behind the top Orioles in the balloting as third baseman Harmon Killebrew finishing fourth with 96 votes, followed by pitcher Jim Kaat with 84 and outfielder Tony Oliva with 78.

Rounding out the top 10 were outfielder Al Kaline of Detroit, 66 points, outfielder Tom Agee of the White Sox, 63; Aparicio, 51, and shortstop Bert Campaneris of Kansas City, 36.

Pius' Bill Rierden Honored

. . . BALL TOTING EARNS PLAYER OF WEEK AWARD

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

No slouch in the offensive department all season, Lincoln Pius X rolled up an impressive 459 yards on the ground against Omaha Bishop Ryan last week.

"It was by far our best offensive performance of the season," says coach Vince Aldrich.

Producing most of the spark as the Thunderbirds won, 33-13, was halfback Bill Rierden, who earns Player of the Week honors for his play against the Knights.

The 170-pound junior scampered for 233 yards in 19 carries against Ryan and broke loose for touchdown runs of 94 and 35 yards.

In addition to his ball toting duties Rierden played a major role in the Pius X defense from his linebacker spot.

Bill and the following players will receive recognition for their top performances last week:

Kipp Kruse, Pilger—Three-year letterman at tackle moved to fullback in final game and carried 22 times for 110 yards.

Bill Jones, McCool Junction — Scored five touchdowns, gained 246 yards on 11 carries in leading team to first win, 52-7, over Marquette.

Doug Day, Hebron—Scored four touchdowns, led team in tackles in 45-6 win over Harvard.

Ken Still, Paxton — Carried 20 times for 51 yards in 34-13 win over Stapleton.

Jerry Schindler, Elgin St. Boniface — Gained 261 yards against Verdigre to set new school rushing mark with 921 yards.

Tim Dodson, Maywood — Piled up 27 points in leading Tigers to 47-7 win over Maxwell.

Melvin Tarpley, Lincoln High—Sparked Lincoln High comeback against Sioux City Central with 109 yards rushing in second half.

John Vernon, Crete—Two interceptions and two touchdowns helped Crete stop Schuyler, 32-7.

Max Linder, Plattsmouth—Ran for two touchdowns, passed for two more in 35-20 win over Fairbury.

LBJ Signs Merger Bill

Washington (AP) — President Johnson signed into law Tuesday a bill giving the merger of the American and National Football Leagues limited immunity from antitrust laws.

Under the merger plans, the leagues will play a Super Bowl game in January pitting the AFL champions against the NFL winners, will hold a common draft and will plan a schedule for interleague, pre-season games next summer.

Two new cities will join the combined league to be eventually formed by 28 teams.

On Nov. 1, the NFL made New Orleans its 16th franchise, to begin operations in 1967. The new club will participate in the January draft. The AFL's 10th club is expected to begin operation in 1968. Two more teams are expected to be added after that.

The two pro leagues had a difficult time getting congressional approval for the merger. It finally came about when the football measure was attached as an amendment to the administration's bill to suspend the seven per cent investment credit tax.

It was the anti-inflation tax bill that Johnson signed Tuesday in Johnson City, Tex.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, did not want to give congressional approval until full hearings had been held on the plan.

But he was bypassed in a legislative maneuver by veteran Sens. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., and Russell B. Long, D-La.

The Senate first passed the football bill by a voice vote without holding hearings on the measure. When it went to the House, Celler announced his intention to investigate the merger plans and it appeared Congress would adjourn without taking action on the measure.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said if Congress did not sanction the combining of the two leagues, he would recommend that the owners call it off.

NBA Prexy Says Loop To Expand To 16 By 1972

Cleveland, Ohio (AP)—Walter Kennedy, president of the National Basketball Association, said here Tuesday that the league will be expanded to 16 teams by the start of the 1972-73 season.

The 10-member league will be increased to 12 teams for the start of the 1968-69 season and Cleveland has a good chance of getting out of the two new franchises, Kennedy said.

Also being considered are Seattle, San Diego, Atlanta, Pittsburgh and Houston-Dallas, he added.

—EIGHT-MAN, CLASS D PREP RATINGS—

Indianola, Clarks Still On Top

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Indianola and Clarks maintained their top rankings in Nebraska eight-man and Class D 11-man football play last week, but there was some shuffling behind the leaders in each class.

Elmwood steps up to the No. 2 position behind Indianola in the eight-man chase with Overton climbing to No. 3 and Wilsonville vaulting to o. 4.

Odell, No. 2 a week ago, fades to seventh this week after a 25-21 win over Adams in the Homesteader playoff.

Humphrey retains the No. 5 spot with Paxton advancing to No. 6 this week.

The chart shows 11 teams this week with Western and Pleasanton, best of the once-beatens, deadlocked for the No. 10 spot.

Clarks, which finished unbeaten in a schedule which found it playing eight Class C schools, remained firmly entrenched in the top spot in Class D with a 20-7 win over St. Edward.

Clay Center, the No. 2 club, blasted Edgar, 52-0, and No. 3 Arcadia crushed Palmer, 26-0, to finish 9-0-1.

The juggling started at the No. 4 spot in the Class D race with western leader Lyman making the climb to that spot after whipping Potter, 42-19.

Beemer, fourth last week, slides clear to No. 10 after losing to Newcastle.

Also advancing this week is Elgin St. Boniface, the 1965 champion, which won its fifth straight in a 39-27 decision over Verdigre. Gary Schmidt's team moves up to No. 7 after being tenth a week ago.

Quail Season Set Thursday

. . . GOOD YEAR EXPECTED

Quail hunters get the green light Thursday when the flighty bobwhite goes under the gun. The birds abound in most areas of the state, and 1966 should be a good year for gunners, note Game Commission technicians.

Limits on quail are 6 daily and 18 in possession. As with pheasants, shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

On the big-game front, riflemen are in the middle of what appears to be another good deer hunt. On opening day, November 5, gunners unofficially took 1,612 deer. One unit alone has already nearly equalled that figure. As of early Monday (November 7) morning, 1,373 deer had been taken in the Pine Ridge Unit.

There have been a number of large racks reported, and the biggest buck checked on opening weekend weighed 240 pounds hog-dressed. It was downed by Jerry Lewis of Bassett. A number of hunters doubled up over the weekend on both deer and turkey. While final reports are still to come on the turkey hunt, which closed November 6, it should be another good season. Rifle-deer nimrods have through November 13 to bag their quarry, and some deer permits still remain in the Plains Unit.

Ducks are still moving into the state. Enders, Swanson, and Harlan County reservoirs, plus Lake McConaughy, all have good populations of waterfowl. There are approximately 30,000 ducks and geese resting on the Garden County Refuge. Quite a few mallards have moved into the Tekamah area of the Missouri River, and gunners there are bagging limits early in the morning.

An estimated 7,000 to 8,000 ducks are sitting on Lake Babcock at Columbus, and about 14,000 ducks, mostly mallards, are on Lewis and Clark Lake. Some scaup have moved into the Ponca area of the Missouri River, but are not decoying well.

Hunting pressure on pheasants is light, but this may be due in part to increased activity on deer, say conservation officers. There is good news for ringneck hunters, though. The harvest is progressing, with crops 75 to 80 per cent out in both the southwest and southeast areas.

Limits of ringnecks are still being chalked up in the panhandle. Bagging their daily share of pheasants over the weekend were Bernie Reed, Denver, Colo.; Clive Ostenburg, Scottsbluff; Don Phinney, Morrill, and Springer Jones, Mitchell.

In most areas of the southeast, gunners are averaging from one to two birds each. Plenty of birds are being seen there, but they are flushing out of range.

Pairings Set For Wesleyan Cage Tourney

Four games will be played each of the four days with action starting at 4 p.m.

First day schedule: 4 p.m. —Wesleyan Frosh v. J.F.K.; 5:45 p.m.—Midland v. Friends; 7:30 p.m.—Doane v. Concordia; 9:15 p.m.—Hastings v. Dana.

Nebraska Waterfowl On Decline

Waterfowl habitat continues to gradually decline in Nebraska as in the entire North American continent, says the Game Commission.

Some 309 wetlands comprising 5,025 acres were recently surveyed by the Commission in Arthur County in north-central Nebraska. Drainage in this area has resulted in the loss of 15 wetlands totaling 1,341 acres. Haying or grazing comprised all of the surrounding land use of the wetlands.

A program of surveying wetlands has been under way in Nebraska since 1959 to catalogue the number, show distribution, and reflect the quality of these areas. Wetlands are essential for ducks and geese to provide nesting, rearing, feeding, and resting areas.

It was once believed that waterfowl would be perpetuated simply by controlling the hunting kill. Regulations by themselves were not the solution. More intensive land use, particularly drainage, is steadily replacing marshes with cropland. This loss of wetlands has had a profound effect on waterfowl.

A combination of efforts is being made to preserve wetlands in Nebraska. Some farmers and ranchers realize their value and have been allowing them to exist. Individuals and sportsmen clubs have purchased marshy areas. The federal government as well as the state has a wetlands acquisition program. The main purposes of the acquisition program are production of waterfowl and preserving wetlands in danger of being lost.

Jayhawks Hold Light Workout, Hear CU Report

Lawrence, Kans. — The Kansas football squad held a light workout Tuesday and heard a scouting report from Tom Triplett, who watched Colorado beat Missouri, 26-0, Saturday.

Triplett said the Buffaloes, who play the Jayhawks at Lawrence Saturday, are on a par with Nebraska.

"Colorado is very alert," he said. "They took advantage of all the breaks and they have a fine running game."

KU Punter Nears Record

. . . MORGAN HAS EXTRA HARD TASK

Kansas City, Mo. — To repeat as a Big Eight Conference statistical champion is tough.

However, to crack the elite title circle in a year such as this had to be extra hard. Five individuals who led six divisions were back this time.

Thus, the prospect of Kansas' David Morgan whipping the rest of the field to take one of those top spots sporting an incumbent rated a high degree of difficulty—the defender in Morgan's case happened to be a teammate, Bill Lynch.

It was Lynch who came on strong last year to rescue the Kansas kicking cause and win the Big Eight punting derby with a healthy 41.5-per-kick mark. The Jayhawks were happy. Lynch was just a sophomore and would be around a couple more seasons.

Enter Morgan, who not only lysched Lynch and took the job away from him, but who also quickly skied to the top of the league and nation, where he is again this week with his 44.7 average. The average, however, hasn't been holding steady the last four weeks—it has been going up and up to its current level. This comes at a time in the season when most averages are regressing.

The author of these towering picture-book boots—he got off one 70-yard beaut which ranks as the longest in the Big Eight this year — is inching toward becoming the best punter for average in the conference since Colorado's Zack Jordan hit his record 48.2 mark back in 1950.

For Morgan to bump his mark during the last two games to the level of Jordan's for a record would be a pretty tall order. However, if he is able to maintain his pace, he likely will become the fourth Big Eight kicker to win the national punting title. Jordan was the first, but he's been followed by John Hadl of Kansas (1959) and Joe Don Looney of Oklahoma (1962.)

Weather Chills Cyclone Drills

Ames, Iowa (AP) — The Iowa State Cyclones shivered through a one-hour and 15-minute drill in subfreezing weather Tuesday, stepping up preparations for Saturday's game at Kansas State.

Coach Clay Stapleton said several injuries are improving with rest, and no one has been counted out of the Big Eight finale.

He indicated, however, it probably won't be known before Friday whether end Jim Cunningham and halfback Doug Robinson will be ready to play.

Clay's Work Schedule Slows Down

Houston (AP) — Cassius Clay took a day off Tuesday as his handlers slowed the work schedule for fear of too much training for Monday's heavyweight title fight with Cleveland Williams.

"My main concern is his training too much," said Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer.

There were similar reports from the Yoakum, Tex., farm where Williams will train until Friday.

Williams took Monday off after being knocked down by sparring partner Ben Black.

Trainer Perry Payne expressed no concern about Williams being knocked down but said the challenger was sluggish and needed rest.

"He's in perfect condition," Payne said.

Frosh Cage Practices Going Well

Nebraska freshmen basketball coach Glenn Potter moves into his fourth week of practice with 17 yearlings and reports things are progressing well.

The roster includes nine youngsters from Nebraska, including four who received all-state honors. Class C all-staters reporting are Sam Martin of Pawnee City and Dennis Beckmann of University High. Bob Gratopp of Geneva and Mike Aspen of Hastings St. Cecilia were Class B choices last year.

The biggest players on the team are Brian Berger of Long Beach, Calif., and Ken Peden of Aliquippa, Pa., both 6-7.

Tom Line of Los Angeles is listed with the freshmen, after arriving at mid term last season. He will be allowed to play in four games with the frosh.

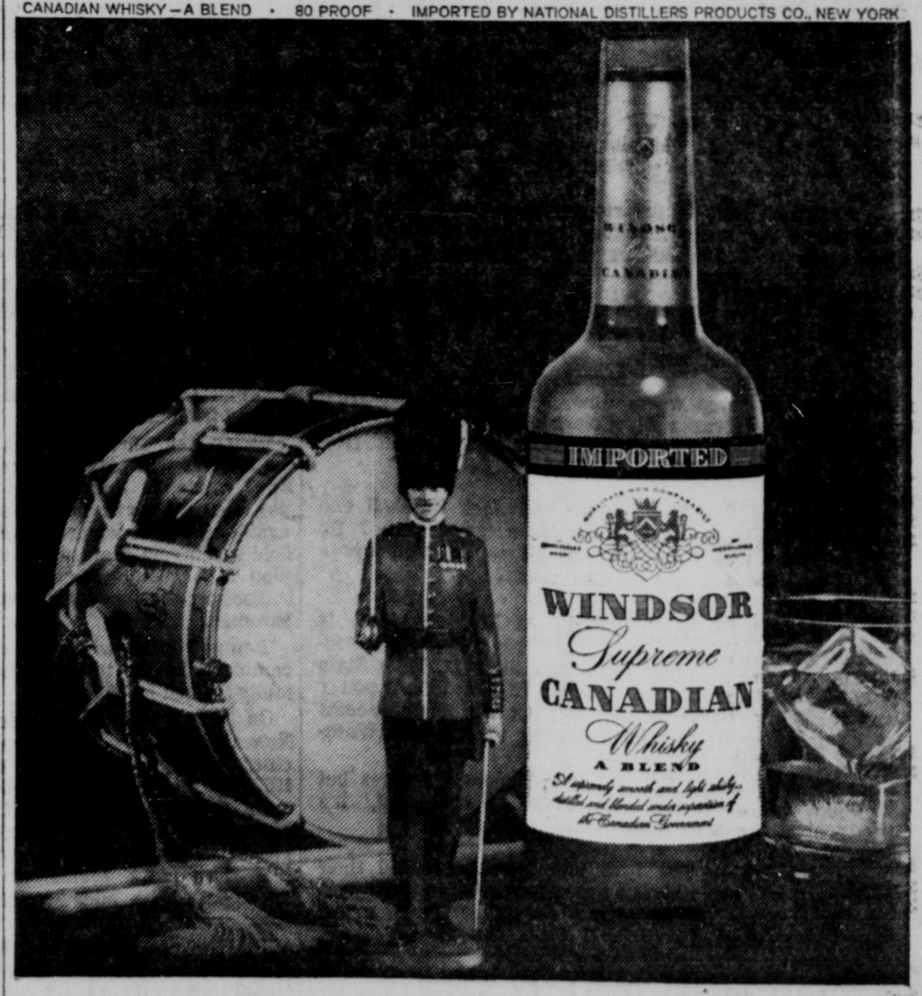
CANADIAN WHISKY—A BLEND • 80 PROOF • IMPORTED BY NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS CO., NEW YORK



Join the parade to:
THE SMOOTHEST WHISKY EVER TO COME OUT OF CANADA!

Now step up to Windsor Canadian: the remarkable, sippin'-smooth Canadian that's already changing thousands of Americans' ideas on the whisky to serve.

Tonight compare Windsor! Pour two drinks—highballs or over ice—one with your usual, one with Windsor Canadian. Notice the superior smoothness and the flavor of Windsor.
That's because no other custom-distilled whisky shares these three extraordinary features:
1. Only Windsor Canadian is made from choicest northern prairie grains, bursting with fresh flavor.
2. Only Windsor Canadian is born of icy mountain glacial water drawn clear from underground streams.
3. Only Windsor Canadian is aged in the incredibly dry air of Canada's Rockies. Where, nearly a mile high, it gentles to sippin'-smooth perfection.
Yet it costs no more than leading domestic whiskies, because we import Windsor Canadian, then bottle it here. Thus saving on duties and other charges. Compare the price and the smoothness of Windsor. Once you do, you'll never settle for less or pay more. Join the parade... tonight!

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Rising Fund Participation No Guarantee Of Stability

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER
Some Disappointed

It has been disappointing to some that the increasing participation in security markets by professionally managed financial packages of convenience, such as the mutual funds, has failed to reduce price fluctuations more.

With important structural changes in financial markets incidental to the predilection for common stocks of pension funds, trust accounts, and investment companies, some observers assumed that a new stability in financial markets had been achieved. With his insight into the psychology of market operators, however, William Townsend, brilliant economic statistician, warned that fund managers could contribute to price weakness in securities through the mere undramatic act of temporarily withholding bids.

Fluctuations were further exaggerated by the desire of some fund managers to make the appearance of a good showing by switches in holdings before the reporting date at the end of each quarter. Thus, when the professionals themselves became affected by prevailing mass emotions, their maneuvers tended to amplify fluctuations.

Such malpractices are encouraged by unscientific yardsticks used by security vendors to induce investors that their wares possess unusual quality. The truth is that it is difficult to compare various investment funds because the objectives differ. As a matter of fact, during the vicissitudes of market changes thus far in 1966, it is ironic that the balanced funds, which promised stability, did not do as well in retaining net assets per share as certain selected special purpose high risk funds. Short term results, however, should be taken with a grain of salt.

Sensible Yardstick

A sensible yardstick is whether particular funds contribute to the personal and family needs of a given investor in light of his age, his responsibilities and his aspirations. It is high tme for investors to grow up and to recognize that to the extent they put volatile growth stocks in their portfolios, they tend to heighten the likelihood of fluctuations in price.

The late Orlando F. Weber, builder of Allied Chemical, took an unusually mature view of his holdings. He pointed out that his main interest was to ascertain whether he was retaining securities of soundly managed companes with good long term prospects. He used to remark: "If in the interim stock prices should decline in weak markets, then the estate taxes levied on my heirs will be lower if I die while prices are temporarily depressed."

In the spirit of measuring results in accordance with prevailing public moods, a magazine specializing in mutual funds reports that in the year ending September 30th last, of 213 representative mutual funds analysed, 197 performed better pricewise than the stocks in the Dow Jones Industrial Average, which lost 13%.

On the other hand, 16 mutual funds performed worse, losing more than 13%. In the 12-month period results varied from a gain of 41.1% for the top fund to a loss of 38.3% for the bottom fund. Of the 213 studied, 49 showed gains for the 12 months and 164 showed losses. Average loss for the mutual funds was 4.1%.

Closed-End Funds

Of the closed-end funds, many of which have been selling at a discount below current net asset value, 22 companies in the 12 months showed an average loss of 1.2%—better than the results of the open-end mutual funds, many of which carried a load or premium of as much as 8½% above net asset value. All but 3 closed-end funds performed better than the Dow Jones average.

Comparisons are, of course, related to the base period. Stocks lost less percentagewise from September 30, 1965 to September 30, 1966 than they did between the market peak in February 1966 and the low point of the decline this Autumn.

These facts of life should not discourage investment. Properly understood, investment entails risk taking. The prudent don't expect to eliminate risks, but aspire to calculate and diversify risks. It is sensible to balance funds, to diversify hazards, and to check personal opinions against professional counsel.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Students Seeking Jobs Are Taught Bartending

New York (AP)— If the bartender at the next party you go to looks awfully young, it may be because he learned to make that martini at Columbia University.

He probably has been giving up two hours every Thursday night or Saturday morning to sit in a lecture hall and absorb all the tricks of drink mixing—not for his own consumption, but to help pay his tuition.

The course in tending bar has been taught for several years as part of the university's student employment program. It's so popular that this year, with an enrollment of 100, the university had to set up two weekly sessions.

White Spider

The would-be bartenders spent two hours listening to Joseph Reilly, longtime bar manager at the Barclay Hotel (and a teetotaler), explain the fine points of turning vodka and white creme de menthe into a White Spider, or scotch and Drambuie into a Rusty Nail.

When they're learned how to mix scores of drinks, and the right glasses to pour them into, the students may join a student bartending agency and go out on parties — at $2.50 an hour.

A Columbia student bartender made the drinks for Jane Fonda's birthday party, and the bars at publishers' parties for authors Leo Rosten, Arnold Schulman and others were manned by Columbia boys.

One of the most experienced of the young drink-mixers is Alnis Grant of Cleveland, who took the course as a freshman and is now a junior.

Young Grant says that, besides the money, he likes the chance to become a real connoisseur. After tending bar at a party for a Yugoslavian artist, he added Slivovitz (colorless plum brandy) to his own collection.

But Grant had soothing words for the parents of the young bartenders.

"The temptation to drink on the job is slight," he says. "You're too busy mixing 'em at the time, too tired afterward to care.'

Wintry Warning Is Issued

Heavy snow warnings were issued for eastern Nebraska Tuesday night after light snow and freezing drizzle made driving conditions hazardous in most areas of the state by early Wednesday.

The Weather Bureau said snow was expected to be heaviest in the east, with the possibility of four inches accumulating by Wednesday night. The snow could be whipped by winds up to 30 miles per hour Wednesday.

The snow warning includes Lincoln. Local temperatures were to peak in the mid-30's, according to the bureau.

Motorists in the Lincoln area were asked to drive carefully over roads slick with the intermittent freezing drizzle that fell here Tuesday night.

The State Safety Patrol said bridges and overpasses in Lincoln and Omaha were covered with ice and road crews were being dispatched.

A number of Nebraska weather stations reported light snow Tuesday night. Chadron, Sidney, Imperial, North Platte, Scottsbluff, and Hastings all reported light snow.

As the winter's first statewide storm moves east Wednesday, the moisture should diminish by the afternoon in western Nebraska.

Patrol headquarters reported late Tuesday that highway surfaces were icy throughout most of the Nebraska Panhandle, with some of them covered by packed or drifting snow.

Both Endicott, Reynolds School Issues Defeated

Lincoln Star Special

Fairbury — Two Jefferson County school bond issues failed Tuesday by almost identical margins of three per cent.

Both Endicott and Reynolds, voting on elementary buildings, garnered totals just over 52%. A 55% figure was required for approval.

Endicott's $70,000 proposal drew 60 votes for, 55 against. At Reynolds, a $39,000 issue failed by 52 to 47.

Ashland's Pool Funds Approved

Lincoln Star Special

Ashland — A $16,167 bond issue here passed by a wide majority Tuesday. The vote was 392 for and 206 against, over 68% support.

This was the third time a bond issue for a swimming pool appeared on the ballot in Ashland, however, this time matching funds were available from the federal government and from the state on a 50/25/25% basis. The total cost of the pool is expected to be $64,670.

Voter turnout was medium in Ashland although the weather was fair.

Fremont Rejects School Proposal

Lincoln Star Special

Fremont — Voters here Tuesday turned thumbs down on a $1,625,000 school bond issue.

The complete tally was 3,625 against, 3,485 for.

Maddox Visits Possible Home

"You like the color of the bricks, sugar?" he asked.
